Ben-Gurion Steps Down Sets Stage For New Cabinet

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli government resigned Sunday after a 10-day crisis over Israel's arms deal with West Germany. The action under the leadership of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion had been expected following the refusal of four dissenting ministers to agree to an ultimatum that they quit the Cabinet. Ben-Gurion handed a letter to President Izhak Ben-Zvi, explaining the reasons for the resignation. In his letter, Ben-Gurion charged the four ministers had violated a 1957 pledge to support all cabinet decisions or resign. The agreement in the coalition was based on the principle of collective responsibility. Ben-Gurion now is expected to form a new government without members of the two leftwing parties, Achduth Avodah and Mapam. Earlier in the day Ben-Gurion sent the ultimatum to the four ministers saying that unless they quit by 6 p.m. he would hand in his resignation. When they ignored the ultimatum the 71-year-old Prime Minister resigned. The four are Moshe Carmel and Israel Bar-Yehuda of the leftwing

Traffic Death Count Below Expectations

Drownings Soar Above 121 Mark Set Six Years Ago

By The Associated Press Traffic — 223 Drownings — 146 Miscellaneous — 50 Total — 419

Traffic deaths piled up at a steady clip Sunday as fair weather lured millions of persons to the highways on their way to beaches and resorts this final day of the July Fourth weekend.

The pleasant weather also shot the deaths by drowning above the 121 mark set in 1953, the only other two-day July Fourth observance since the end of World War II. The watery toll was far above the 101 recorded during the last two-day Memorial Day weekend.

Cautious Optimism The climbing traffic rate still was running slightly under the Memorial Day figures and led the National Safety Council to voice a note of cautious optimism. "If the drivers and traffic enforcement agencies continue the good work, the toll will end substantially below our estimates and below the Memorial Day toll," hte NSC said.

The council spokesman estimated 45 million automobiles would travel some nine billion miles on the country's highways and byways. This would be five million autos and three billion miles more than usual on a nonholiday two-day summer weekend period, the spokesman said.

NSC Forecast 350 Deaths

In the 54 hours between 6 p.m. local time Friday and midnight Sunday, the NSC estimated 350 motorists and pedestrians would die in the heavy traffic.

This would exceed by 40 the 310 deaths counted over this year's Memorial Day weekend, also a Saturday-Sunday holiday. By comparison, 240 persons died in traffic accidents in a 54-hour, nonholiday weekend of June 20-21, a survey by The Associated Press showed.

The last time July 4 fell on Saturday, in 1953, traffic deaths totaled 282.

Six Die In Crash Of Small Plane

PRESCOTT, Ari. (UPI) — A private plane on a holiday sight-seeing trip crashed into the side of a mountain, killing all six persons aboard—four of them children.

The wreckage of the plane was spotted Sunday by an Air Force C-47 search craft near the top of 7000-foot Mungah Mountain about 20 miles from where it took off Saturday.

The children aboard were being treated to the flight as part of a birthday party for one of them. A rescue crew taken into the rugged area by Air Force helicopter confirmed that all were killed when the plane apparently flew straight into the side of the mountain.

Russell Potts, 33, head of a Phoenix Crop-Dusting Service and veteran pilot, was at the controls of the Piper Tri-Pacer.

Also aboard the plane was Mrs. Attie Coates, 24, Blythe, Calif., and her son, Woody, 3; and three children of the Jack Daniels' of Prescott. They were Patrick, 8, whose birthday was being celebrated, his brothers, Jerry 11, and Tommy, 13.

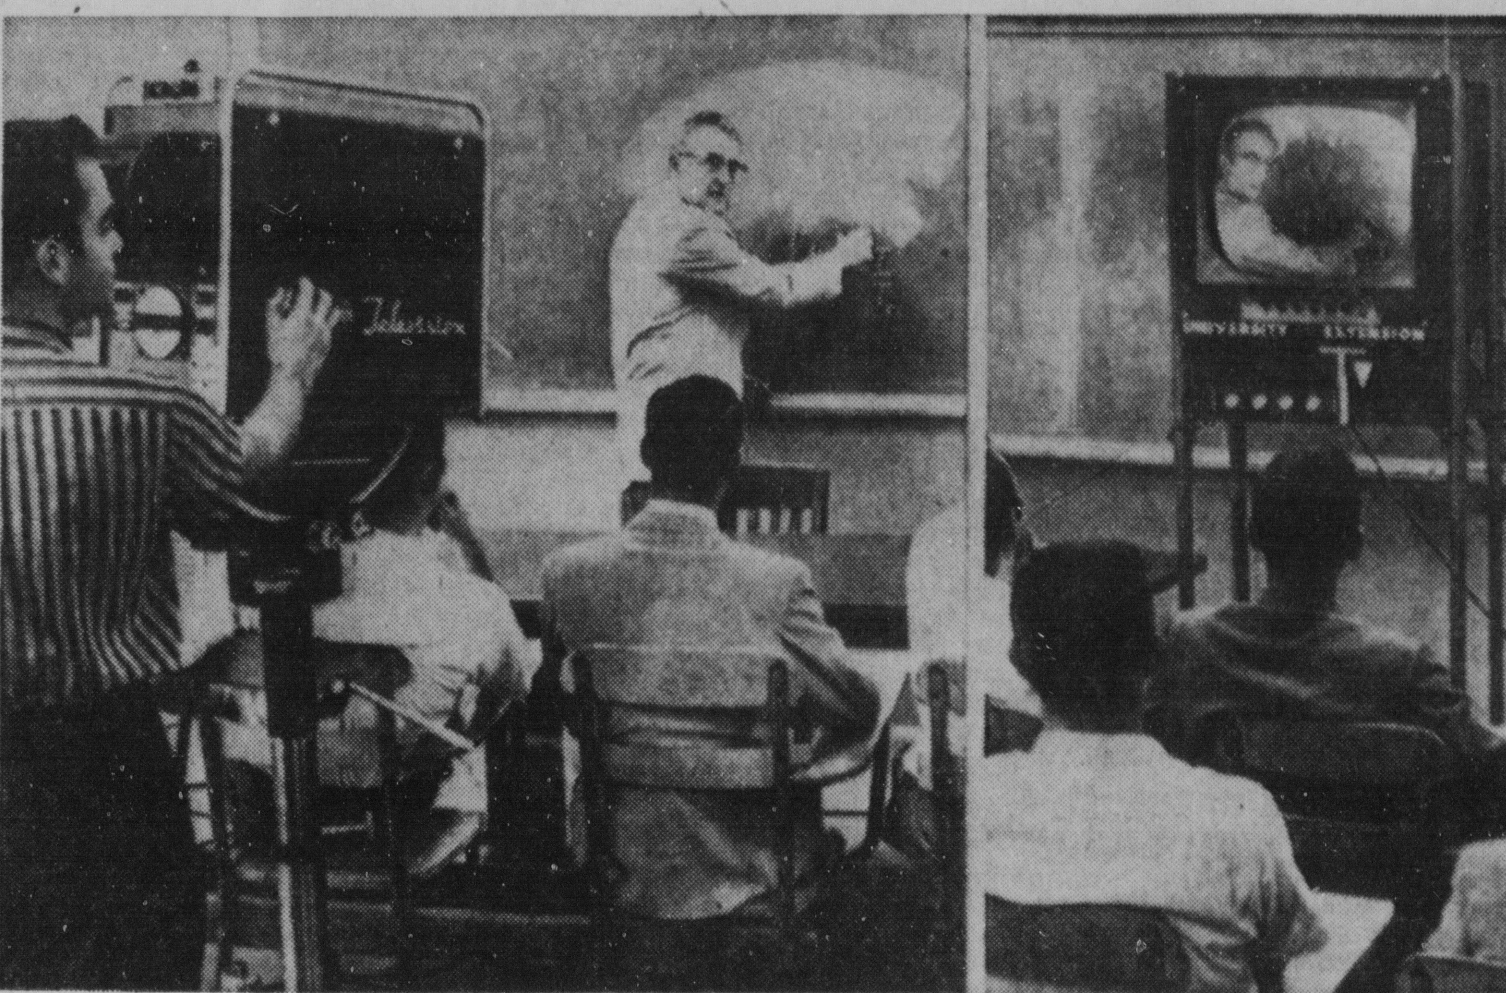

Undress Rehearsal Held For Lady Godiva Stakes

MOUSFORD, England (AP) — Half a dozen daring girls had an undress rehearsal Sunday for Britain's craziest horse race of the year—the Lady Godiva Stakes. Post time: midnight next Saturday.

The race is named for the legendary lady of Coventry who was the first gal to put all she had on a horse.

As staged by the South Berkshire Hunt, the race will feature girl jockeys in flesh-colored swimsuits and nylon nightgowns, which is considerably more than Lady Godiva sported on her trot through town some 900 years ago.

Out rehearsing Sunday Susan Capstick, 21, daughter of a dairy director, patted her straw wig,

Tired Gov. Long Returns To His Farm For Rest

WINNFIELD, La. (UPI) — Gov. Earl K. Long, tired but amiable after surviving five campaign speeches and a beauty contest his doctors warned him against, returned Sunday to his "little pea patch" farm to rest.

Long, 63 years old, and 40 pounds lighter after a hectic six weeks that included commitment in three mental wards, opened a campaign Saturday to become governor of Louisiana a fourth time.

He arrived at his farm in a black sedan after his $12,000 air-conditioned Cadillac was wrecked Saturday. Dr. Paul Pratt, his psychiatrist, was with him upon his return to the farm on Winnfield's outskirts.

He got out of his car under his own power, although two men stood by to help him. Long jammed a floppy Panama hat on, looked across the field at a Negro plowing with a tractor and went on into his home.

Since he spent last weekend in his farm home, it has been moved back about 40 feet and set up on new pyramidal concrete pillars. Long calls his 400-acre farm his "little pea patch."

As Long was leaving southwest Louisiana Saturday night to board a plane for the beauty contest his air-conditioned Cadillac hit a pickup truck in a rainstorm.

Long was in another car and escaped injury. But Joe Arthur Sims, the lawyer who got Long out of a state mental hospital at Mandeville, La., nine days ago, suffered a broken wrist.

Indiana Girl Flyers First 'Home' In Race

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Two Indiana girl flyers beat the weather and the clock Sunday to become the first finishers in the annual Powder Puff Derby from Lawrence, Mass., to the Spokane Airport.

The first finishers were dark-haired Mary Ray Ringenberg and her co-pilot, Lois Layman, who touched down at 5:30 a.m. p.s.t. (9:30 a.m. e.d.t.) after the last leg of the race from Helena, Mont.

No others were expected to be able to finish Sunday since bad weather closed in the Spokane Airport.

The winner will not be known until all of the planes have finished.

Zuni Indians Join Forest Fire Battle

SIERRAVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — One hundred Zuni Indian fire fighters took their skills into battle Sunday against a raging forest fire which already has burned 10,000 acres of valuable timber and threatens to get totally out of hand in the face of 40-50 mph winds.

John Bigley, dispatcher for the Tahoe National Forest, scene of the blaze, said the Indians plus 60 prison inmates brought to 1,860 the number of men on the fire line.

Thus far there have been no injuries. The Italian point of view was contained in a note sent in response to a Soviet note of June 10, protesting an Italian decision to build missile bases in Italy.

Crewmen Taken Off Blazing Cargo Ship

CAMERON, La. (AP)—Most of a crew of about 40 aboard a burning cargo ship in the Gulf of Mexico were rescued Sunday.

As the blaze on the Belgian motorship Anvers spread beyond control, six crewmen and about a dozen Coast Guardsmen remained aboard to fight the fire.

Two lifeboats with about 35 crewmen aboard were towed into Cameron from the burning ship, six miles offshore.

The ship's fourth engineer, Frank Nagels, said only two men were slightly hurt. Nagels suffered a face injury, and another crewman facial burns. Nagels said there had been no loss of life. Crewmen in two lifeboats were picked up and brought to Cameron.

The skipper and five or six men remained aboard to help fight the blaze, Nagels said.

Nagels said an explosion in the engine room caused the blaze.

Two coast guard cutters were at the scene, and put a firefighting crew aboard.

In New Orleans, the Coast Guard said "it could be a dangerous fire." The cargo consisted of rosin, cotton, lumber, iron ore, carbon black, synthetic latex, menhaden fish oil and rice.

The Coast Guard said the rice constituted an extra hazard because its swelling, from water poured into the burning ship by firefighters, might explode the compartments.

The ship, from Antwerp, with Capt. Sanglies as master, was bound from Freeport, Tex., to Lake Charles, La.

Man Crosses Sea In 25-Foot Boat

NEW YORK (AP) — Christopher Grabowski, 37, a Polish air force veteran now a Tunisian citizen, completed Sunday a storm-wracked solo crossing of the Atlantic in a 25-foot sailing boat.

After 85 days at sea, Grabowski quietly docked his sloop, "Tethys"—the name means a female sea titan — at the Coast Guard quarantine station on Staten Island about noon. He had provisions left for only five more days.

Grabowski said he wants to become an American citizen. He sailed from Tangiers, Morocco, April 12, and ran into storms, squalls, and flat calms on the 6,000-mile trip.

Italy Rejects Soviet Missile Base Protest

ROME (AP) — Italy told the Soviet Union Sunday she cannot agree to a Russian proposal to create a deatomized zone in central-southern Europe because the present balance of forces would be changed "to the exclusive advantage of the Soviet Union."

The Italian point of view was contained in a note sent in response to a Soviet note of June 10, protesting an Italian decision to build missile bases in Italy.

'Favorite Son' Primary Trend Irks Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) contends that a booming crop of favorite sons and the abolition of some primaries are stifling the people's choice of presidential candidates.

Kennedy, who is expected to announce this fall that he will seek the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, struck out in an interview at the tactics which are narrowing the field of voting contests.

"If states are going to abolish presidential primaries and favorite sons are going to block off national candidates from running in their states, the effect is going to be to deny the people a voice in the selection of the party nominees," he said.

Although he declined to name any specific states, Kennedy made it clear he is irked by a growing disposition of the part of governors to mark their states as out-of-bounds territory for leading candidates for the Democratic nomination.

The latest of these is Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, who said last week he favors sending a favorite son delegation to the party convention. Because the governorship is at stake next year, Nelson has been against any party-dividing battle over delegates.

Kennedy's backers would like to test their candidate's strength in Wisconsin. They sound perfectly willing to take on Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) there, in what would be a showdown battle. The Kennedy strategy of trying to demonstrate that he is the front-runner is being cramped elsewhere by governors who think the nomination race is wide open and want to be in on the dealing when the Los Angeles convention gets down to picking its man.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown has made it clear he wants no outsiders bidding for California's hefty delegation. Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan are potential candidates who have posted "no poaching" signs on their preserves. Gov. A.B. (Happy) Chandler wants Kennedy in his corner, despite some recent political reverses.

TV Professor Discovers That Little "Ham" Helps

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gray-haired professor donned a 10-gallon hat, buckled on two real six-shooters and then stalked out in front of the class.

"Bang!" he said, exhibiting a creditably fast draw.

When the class subsided, Prof. Edward H. Taylor said: "This doesn't have anything to do with the subject at hand—fluid mechanics. But since Westerners seem to be the usual fare on TV these days, I thought I could make you feel more at home."

Prof. Taylor, short, stocky and 47, was "on stage," taking part in an experiment at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Half of his 40 students were in the classroom with him. The other 20 were in a different room, watching him on closed-circuit television.

Almost to a man, the students said they would prefer a superior instructor, such as Taylor, on television to an average instructor in person.

Bretz believes closed-circuit television is the coming thing in education.

Nationalists Bag 5 MIGs In Air Battle

Clash Over Matsu Islands Biggest In Nine Months

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalists viewed with concern the air battle over the Matsu Islands Sunday in which they claimed five Soviet-made MIG fighters were shot down.

Some of the Nationalist pilots credited with kills said the Communist planes were MIG19s, the latest model supersonic jet fighter, and not MIG17s as earlier reported.

The battle took place in the wake of reports attributed in Taipei to Nationalist agents on the mainland that the Red Chinese decided at a military conference last weekend to create a new crisis in Formosa Strait.

12 MIGs Jump 4 Sabres

The air battle was the biggest in the Formosa area in nine months. The Nationalist air force gave this account: four Nationalist pilots, flying U.S.-made Sabre jets, were on a routine patrol south of the Nationalist-held offshore Matsu Islands at the northern end of the strait. They were jumped by 12 MIGs. In a swirling 13-minute battle four MIGs plunged into the water.

A fifth MIG was hit both from the air and by anti-aircraft guns on the Pailuan-White Dog-Islands, 11 miles south of the Matsu. It too plunged into the strait. The pilot bailed out and was rescued by a Nationalist boat about 500 yards from shore but died immediately.

Four other Sabres were ordered to the battle, but it was over before they arrived. All the Sabres returned safely to their base in northern Formosa.

The pilots were acclaimed as heroes by the new chief of the general staff, Gen. Peng Meng-chi, and the commander in chief of the air force, Gen. Chen Chia-shang, who rushed to the base as soon as they heard of the battle.

No "Provocation"

Rear Adm. Liu Hui-tu, chief spokesman of the Defense Ministry, said the Red MIGs attacked "absolutely without provocation."

"This indicates that the enemy seeking every opportunity to create trouble," he declared. "But whatever happens were are prepared and vigilant."

The air force said the kills were accomplished without the use of the Sidewinder, an air-to-air missile which is guided to its target by the heat of an enemy's tailpipe.

The Nationalist military news service said Communist planes strafed the White Dog Islands and that anti-aircraft guns opened fire. It was the first time any of the Matsu group were reported attacked from the air.

Wedding Repeated After Pictures Stolen

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — The pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Earl's wedding were stolen from the photographer. So they did the whole thing over again Sunday.

Photographer Charles Calca said the pictures he made at the Earls' first wedding May 16 were stolen from his car before the negatives were developed.

So the caterers for the wedding decided to foot the bill for a retake — complete with the same minister, same wedding attendants, and even most of the original guests.

A special Suffolk County sheriff followed photographer Calca safely back to his studio.

Cyd Charisse Signs Record TV Contract

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cyd Charisse, the movies' long-limbed dancing beauty, Saturday signed for her television debut in what network sources say is the most lucrative deal made for a feminine star.

Raven-haired Cyd, married to singer Tony Martin, will get $250,000 for the one-hour show plus re-run and foreign ownership rights.

Called "An Evening With Cyd Charisse," it will be shown Nov. 17 over NBC-TV. Miss Charisse will have complete control of the show. Its costs come out of the $250,000.

Congress Demo Leadership Hit By Party Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler Sunday sharply criticized his own party's congressional leaders, saying they are steering a too conservative and moderate course.

Unless the Democratic Congress gets busy and progressive, he said, "we are going to be in a tough situation in 1960."

Hinting at a revolt within the party, Butler said "quite a few Democrats around the country are unhappy about the progress that has been made" in the current session of Congress.

"When the younger members of Congress go back to their districts this fall and are asked by the people about the record of accomplishment, they will return here in January in a fighting mood because they know they will have to have a solid record of accomplishment in order to win re-election," he added.

In criticizing his party's leadership in Congress in a filmed TV interview, Butler mentioned no names. His obvious targets were Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, also of Texas. They have stayed aloof from the Democratic Advisory Council which Butler heads.

Butler also said at one point that the views of Southern leaders in Congress do not represent the Democrats' national point of view.

"The congressional seniority system lends itself to the buildup of power and influence, control of committees by Southern Democrats, when the Democrats are in control of Congress," he added.

The Democratic chairman went on to say he had been trying "to make the party more responsible and more responsive to the needs and demands of the people, and this can only be done on a national basis."

West Germany Takes Over Full Control Of Saar

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (AP) — The industrial Saar basin, long an international bone of contention, returned from French to German economic control Monday.

The Bonn Republic thus moved into the untested No. 1 position among Western Europe's industrial powers.

The final settlement of one of Western Europe's big postwar problems came at the stroke of midnight and ended a complicated 30-month process reuniting the territory with Germany.

The Saar has been a disputed pawn between France and Germany since the days of French King Louis XIV. France occupied it after both world wars. Each time the German-speaking population voted to return to Germany.

The Saar's political return was on Jan. 1, 1957, under a Bonn-Paris agreement when it became West Germany's 10th state.

The difficult economic transformation was to have been spread over a three-year period.

But because of French-German cooperation it came six months early. This was X-Tag or X-Day — for Saarlanders to cross over.

X-Tag meant for one million Saarlanders a switchover from the French franc to the stable German mark and drastic price changes for many goods. For the Bonn Republic it meant an added coal and steel potential and for France it may mean the loss of a good consumer goods market.

TV Professor Discovers That Little 'Ham' Helps

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gray-haired professor donned a 10-gallon hat, buckled on two real six-shooters and then stalked out in front of the class.

When the class subsided, Prof. Edward H. Taylor said: "This doesn't have anything to do with the subject at hand—fluid mechanics. But since Westerners seem to be the usual fare on TV these days, I thought I could make you feel more at home."

Half of his 40 students were in the classroom with him. The other 20 were in a different room, watching him on closed-circuit television.

The experiment, which went on for a whole semester, proved at least one thing: Tomorrow's teachers will need a lot of "ham" sandwiched between their academic degrees.

The reason — televised classes do a better job of teaching than "live" classes, and there won't be any place on the lecture staff for the dull professor who has trouble holding students' attention.

Rudy Bretz, head of UCLA's Educational Television Division, says Taylor's TV group had better grades throughout the semester than his "live" audience.

Almost to a man, the students said they would prefer a superior instructor, such as Taylor, on television to an average instructor in person.

Bretz believes closed-circuit television is the coming thing in education.

Nationalists Bag 5 MIGs In Air Battle

Clash Over Matsu Islands Biggest In Nine Months

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalists viewed with concern the air battle over the Matsu Islands Sunday in which they claimed five Soviet-made MIG fighters were shot down.

Some of the Nationalist pilots credited with kills said the Communist planes were MIG19s, the latest model supersonic jet fighter, and not MIG17s as earlier reported.

The battle took place in the wake of reports attributed in Taipei to Nationalist agents on the mainland that the Red Chinese decided at a military conference last weekend to create a new crisis in Formosa Strait.

12 MIGs Jump 4 Sabres

The air battle was the biggest in the Formosa area in nine months. The Nationalist air force gave this account: four Nationalist pilots, flying U.S.-made Sabre jets, were on a routine patrol south of the Nationalist-held offshore Matsu Islands at the northern end of the strait. They were jumped by 12 MIGs. In a swirling 13-minute battle four MIGs plunged into the water.

A fifth MIG was hit both from the air and by anti-aircraft guns on the Palchuan-White Dog-Islands, 11 miles south of the Matsu. It too plunged into the strait. The pilot bailed out and was rescued by a Nationalist boat about 500 yards from shore but died immediately.

Four other Sabres were ordered to the battle, but it was over before they arrived. All the Sabres returned safely to their base in northern Formosa.

The pilots were acclaimed as heroes by the new chief of the general staff, Gen. Peng Meng-chi, and the commander in chief of the air force, Gen. Chen Chia-shang, who rushed to the base as soon as they heard of the battle.

No "Provocation"

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, chief spokesman of the Defense Ministry, said the Red MIGs attacked "absolutely without provocation."

"This indicates that the enemy seeking every opportunity to create trouble," he declared. "But whatever happens we are prepared and vigilant."

The air force said the kills were accomplished without the use of the Sidewinder, an air-to-air missile which is guided to its target by the heat of an enemy's tailpipe.

Wedding Repeated After Pictures Stolen

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — The pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Earl's wedding were stolen from the photographer. So they did the whole thing over again Sunday.

Photographer Charles Caleca said the pictures he made at the Earls' first wedding May 16 were stolen from his car before the negatives were developed.

So the caterers for the wedding decided to foot the bill for a retake — complete with the same minister, same wedding attendants, and even most of the original guests.

A special Suffolk County sheriff followed photographer Caleca safely back to his studio.

Cyd Charisse Signs Record TV Contract

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cyd Charisse, the "movie" long-limbed dancing beauty, Saturday signed for her television debut in what network sources say is the most lucrative deal made for a feminine star.

Raven-haired Cyd, married to singer Tony Martin, will get $250,000 for the one-hour show plus re-run and foreign ownership rights.

Called "An Evening With Cyd Charisse," it will be shown Nov. 17 over NBC-TV. Miss Charisse will have complete control of the show. Its costs come out of the $250,000.

Administration Money Policies Foster At Least Five Joblessness, Inflation, Report Charges Meet Violent Death In State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's money policies were said by the Conference on Economic Progress Sunday to have fostered unemployment and higher costs.

The conference, a privately supported organization of labor and farm leaders and businessmen, attacked the administration's anti-inflation crusade as a scare campaign which it said has actually generated inflation.

The conference report was drawn up by Leon Keyserling, who headed the President's Council of Economic Advisers under former President Harry S. Truman.

Members of the conference board include President Walter P. Reuther of the United Auto Workers, President A. J. Hayes of the Machinists Union, attorney Thurman Arnold and William H. Davis, government officials in Democratic administrations; President James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union and Murray D. Lincoln, president of the nationwide Mutual Insurance Co.

Their report called on the government to draft a "national prosperity budget" for the next five years or so, setting definite goals for maximum production and employment.

"This manifestly calls for a much bigger federal budget and a much more liberal monetary policy than we now have," the report said.

The study did not attack specifically the one issued a week ago by the Cabinet anti-inflation committee headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon. But Keyserling told reporters he considered that document a political stunt and a "paste pot reiteration" of the administration's legislative program.

The Nixon report had said the country now is at a critical juncture requiring immediate adoption of stricter curbs on federal spending and removal of the interest rate ceiling on government bonds to avoid the "serious threat of inflation."

The Keyserling report charged: "The natural desire of the average family to be protected from inflation has been played upon to induce acceptance of regressive national economic policies, which have helped those who need help least at the expense of those who deserve help most."

"The real purpose of this scare campaign has now been revealed clearly as an effort to repress American wages, on the erroneous assumption that rising wages have been the major cause of rising prices and thus weakened our competitive position abroad."

The "peace-time inflation, the report declared, "has been due to deficient rather than to excessive economic activity, and to shortages in public goods and services occasioned by deficient public outlays."

75c AT HARDWARE STORES

By The Associated Press

Maryland's accidental death toll stood at five Sunday night as the long Independence Day weekend neared a close. Four of the fatalities were traffic accidents.

The first drowning reported occurred in Baltimore Sunday in the inner harbor. Southern District police said 5-year-old Roosevelt Roach, a Negro, was playing with two other youngsters on a seawall about 3 p. m. when he fell into the Patapsco River. The police boat, Charles D. Gaither, dragged for 15 minutes before recovering the body.

Another Sunday fatality was William S. Lockett Jr., 8, Negro, of Baltimore, fatally injured while riding with his father. Police said the father, 35, lost control of his car and it struck a utility pole about 3:30 a. m. in Southwest Baltimore. The boy died at 11:15 a. m. in Lutheran Hospital.

In Prince Georges County, a three-car collision in West Hyattsville took the life of Emma Robinson, 50, Negro, of Washington. The accident happened about 2 p. m. Saturday and she died of internal injuries about seven hours later in Prince Georges County Hospital, Cheverly.

State police said a Philadelphia woman who worked at an Ocean City restaurant was killed in the resort town Saturday night when she ran across Maryland 528 and was hit by a car.

Paula Sloat, 22, of Philadelphia, was pronounced dead at Peninsula Hospital in Salisbury by the Wicomico County medical examiner. Officers quoted the driver of the car, Robert Wesley Sayman, 16, of Baltimore, that he was blinded by lights of oncoming cars and didn't see the woman until he had struck her.

Ernest Taylor Martin, 64, of Point Pleasant, Anne Arundel County, was struck and killed early Saturday as he walked along Maryland 177 about 550 feet west of Maryland 648 near Pasadena.

The study did not attack specifically the one issued a week ago by the Cabinet anti-inflation committee headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon. But Keyserling told reporters he considered that document a political stunt and a "paste pot reiteration" of the administration's legislative program.

The Nixon report had said the country now is at a critical juncture requiring immediate adoption of stricter curbs on federal spending and removal of the interest rate ceiling on government bonds to avoid the "serious threat of inflation."

Pravda Hails Khrushchev As Champion Of Jailbirds

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was pictured Sunday as the champion of pickpockets, rogues and other law breakers.

Pravda, the Communist party organ, published letters from a self-styled king of thieves and a group of labor camp inmates heaping praise on Khrushchev for his "humane" attitude toward jailbirds. The prisoners assured Khrushchev of their gratitude for his "warmth and close concern."

The pickpocket "king of thieves", who said he once "enjoyed the respect even of counterfeiter and safebreakers" offered to return to prison to tell the cons that crime doesn't pay.

The letters were prompted by Khrushchev's speech May 23 before Soviet writers in which he claimed he saved a convicted thief from jail. Khrushchev said the man had sent him a letter admitting his guilt but pleading unendurable hardship as his reason.

Flames Sweep Packing Plant

BALTIMORE (AP) — A six-alarm fire fed by fat burned through a meat-packing plant in Southwest Baltimore Saturday. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Firemen using 26 pieces of equipment fought the flames 1 1/2 hours before bringing them under control. The fire was prevented from spreading to nearby homes and a neighboring paint manufacturing plant was threatened for a time.

The meat in the one-story brick, concrete and frame building of the Spevak-Stinson Co. was mostly smoked hams and kosher-style pickled meats.

Company President Jacob Spevak made the damage estimate. He was in the plant at the time of the early morning blaze, training night personnel. The plant employs about 80.

Woman Farm Owner Shot; Cousin Held

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Miss Jennie Whitehead, 70-year-old farm owner, was shot in the back and wounded Saturday at her home on Old Gunpowder Road.

Prince Georges County police charged her cousin, John W. Ferguson, 73, who also lived at the farm, with assault with a dangerous weapon. They said he denied the shooting.

Det. Sgt. Richard A. Pearson said Miss Whitehead told him she was sitting on her porch when Ferguson called to her from the dining room. As she entered the room, she said, Ferguson fired two shots from a shotgun.

She was taken to Leland Memorial Hospital where her condition was reported as fair.

Skyrocket Plunges Into Crowd; 3 Hurt

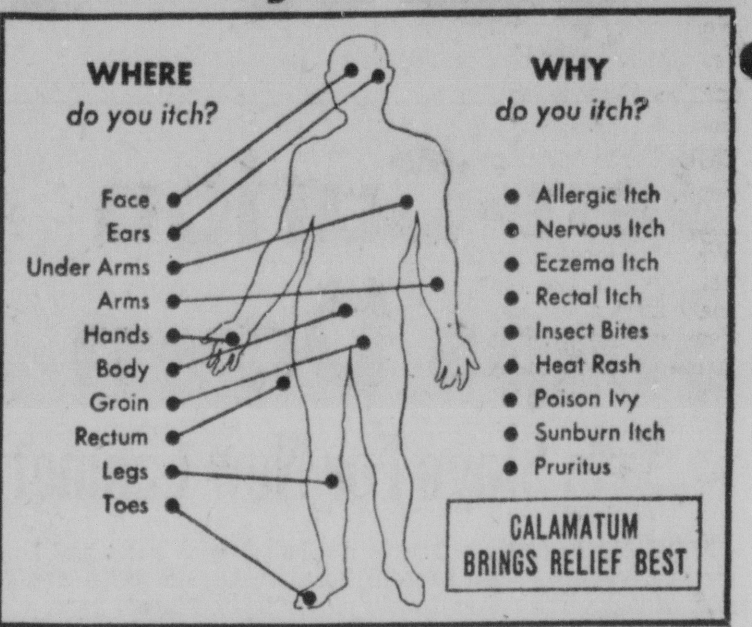

LURAY, Va. (UPI)—A skyrocket sped off course at a Fourth of July fireworks display Saturday night and plummeted into a crowd of 3,000, injuring three girls.

The girls, Anne Rothgeb, 16, Becky Seal, 18, and Nancy Rankin, 5, were treated for injuries at a hospital.

Policeman Bryant Burke said the rocket was blown into the crowd by a gust of wind. The celebration, sponsored by civic groups and the town, was designed to prevent possible injuries from private fireworks demonstrations.

Plane Crash Inquiry aboard a Capital Airlines Viscount will open Wednesday in Baltimore. The four-engine turboprop plane blew apart while flying at about 14,000 feet 15 miles east of Baltimore, killing 27 passengers and a crew of four.

Westernport Eases Water Restrictions

Reservoir, Tank Reported Filling

WESTERNPORT — Through the willingness of the citizens of Westernport to comply with the restrictions recently placed on the use of the water the restrictions will be eased beginning today, Mayor Ray L. Wilt announced last night.

The citizens living on the west side of George's Creek will be permitted to use their hose for the watering of lawns and gardens on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Those residing on the east side of George's Creek can do so on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

If all the citizens will observe these restrictions it is believed all sections of the town will have a supply of water at all times and no further restrictions may be necessary. The mayor stated however unnecessary waste of water may be sufficient cause to impose penalties or to have service discontinued. No one will be permitted to use the hose on Sunday.

The reservoir adjoining the filtration plant is now filled Mayor Wilt states and the storage tank located in vicinity of Bruce High School which holds 64 feet now has 16 feet of water in it. Last Wednesday night the reservoir contained 17½ feet of water and the storage tank contained only 1 foot.

Milk Plant Resumes Full Operations

Union, Company Sign Contract

OAKLAND — Work has been resumed at the Carnation Milk Company receiving station and plant here following a two-week strike, during which time some 800 area milk producers poured most of their milk away.

Herbert S. Glenn, superintendent of the plant at Clarksburg said the company entered into an agreement with the Clarksburg Local of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, which went on strike June 26 over failure to reach an agreement on a new contract. The new contract call for a nine-cent an hour pay increase for an average hourly wage rate of about $2.10, plus other clauses which had been in dispute.

Settlement of the strike and signing of the contract followed closely on the heels of a public meeting at Grantsville, attended by Congressman John R. Foley, Garrett County State Senator Bernard I. Gonder and Delegate Elbert Buckle. At that meeting, the legislators aired the plight of the farmers and producers and urged union and management to attempt an early settlement. Congressman Foley pointed out some of the legal steps open to the union, and offered several suggestions labor could follow if management continued its failure to negotiate, as claimed by the union leaders.

The plant here, as well as other receiving stations purchases milk from some 3,000 producers in southwestern Pennsylvania, Western Maryland and West Virginia. About 150 persons are employed in addition to some 30 milk route drivers. The local plant handles around 80,000 pounds of milk per day.

Garrett County Democrat Women View Registration And Membership Drives

OAKLAND—The Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs of Garrett County at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Seggie, Accident, vice president, discussed plans for registration and increased membership.

Mrs. Grover Stemple, membership chairman said that each club member should act as a committee of one to enlist into membership, at least one other Garrett County Democratic woman.

Miss Ethel Hesser, registration chairman, asked for suggestions as to how the Democratic registration in the county might be increased. It was agreed that each community should have a chairman and that all members in her community join with her in seeking and registering new voters, as well as encouraging those of other parties to change their affiliation. A door-to-door canvass was considered and some members thought it might be a good idea to try this in at least one community to determine the effectiveness.

Mrs. Karol Rush, ways and means chairman discussed the club's finances and the members agreed that fund projects should be inaugurated immediately. Mary Browning and Louise Seggie are to serve on a committee for an initial project.

Mrs. Beeson Snyder, roster chairman, reported that she had not yet met with her co-chairman, Mrs. Charles Briner, but plans to do so. This committee will list the names of Democratic women in the county interested in filling appointments and positions in the county as vacancies arise.

Westernport Eases Water Restrictions

Reservoir, Tank Reported Filling

WESTERNPORT — Through the willingness of the citizens of Westernport to comply with the restrictions recently placed on the use of the water the restrictions will be eased beginning today, Mayor Ray L. Wilt announced last night.

The citizens living on the west side of George's Creek will be permitted to use their hose for the watering of lawns and gardens on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Those residing on the east side of George's Creek can do so on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

If all the citizens will observe these restrictions it is believed all sections of the town will have a supply of water at all times and no further restrictions may be necessary. The mayor stated however unnecessary waste of water may be sufficient cause to impose penalties or to have service discontinued. No one will be permitted to use the hose on Sunday.

The reservoir adjoining the filtration plant is now filled Mayor Wilt states and the storage tank located in vicinity of Bruce High School which holds 64 feet now has 16 feet of water in it. Last Wednesday night the reservoir contained 17 1/2 feet of water and the storage tank contained only 1 foot.

Milk Plant Resumes Full Operations

Union, Company Sign Contract

OAKLAND — Work has been resumed at the Carnation Milk Company receiving station and plant here following a two-week strike, during which time some 800 area milk producers poured most of their milk away.

Herbert S. Glenn, superintendent of the plant at Clarksburg said the company entered into an agreement with the Clarksburg Local of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, which went on strike June 26 over failure to reach an agreement on a new contract. The new contract call for a nine-cent an hour pay increase for an average hourly wage rate of about $2.10, plus other clauses which had been in dispute.

Settlement of the strike and signing of the contract followed closely on the heels of a public meeting at Grantsville, attended by Congressman John R. Foley, Garrett County State Senator Bernard I. Gonder and Delegate Elbert Buckle. At that meeting, the legislators aired the plight of the farmers and producers and urged union and management to attempt an early settlement.

Congressman Foley pointed out some of the legal steps open to the union, and offered several suggestions labor could follow if management continued its failure to negotiate, as claimed by the union leaders.

The plant here, as well as other receiving stations purchases milk from some 3,000 producers in southwestern Pennsylvania, Western Maryland and West Virginia. About 150 persons are employed in addition to some 30 milk route drivers. The local plant handles around 80,000 pounds of milk per day.

FARM WIFE

-- A HELPING HAND

A woman's place on many a farm isn't only in the home. Sometimes it's in the field, too, doing "man's work" when the regular load is too heavy for one person.

Seven million women work or live on U.S. farms today. A large number of them work side by side with their husbands in the field on occasion, helping to disc or harrow or rake hay, or drive the tractor. There are other mechanical-minded wives who help care for and repair machinery, and some who play cowboy rounding up the herd.

The helping-out by a farm wife is in many cases an economic necessity. If her husband is a small farmer, it may be that he can't afford a hired hand. Or maybe he can't find a good one when he needs him.

AT THE WHEEL. Mrs. Faith Evans drives tractor, pulling a rake, on husband's farm at Windsor, Ill. Besides being farm helper and housewife, she's correspondent for the Decatur, Ill., Herald and Review. She took other pictures on this page. Husband, Delosse, snapped this one.

A farm wife's life isn't all cooking and quilting bees. Mrs. Don Davis works side by side with husband shoveling corn for silage on their Shelby County, Ill., farm.

Mrs. Russell Carr dumps corn from a wagon into a hoist which carries it to a crib. She regulates the flow by raising or lowering the endgate to prevent an overflow.

Mrs. Ralph Davis does the milking while daughter Darlene holds the cat at bay. The Davises have 50 Holsteins on their farm.

Chatting while they wait to dump loads of wheat at Windsor, Ill., elevator are Mrs. Edward King, Mrs. Floyd Bauer and Esther Cross.

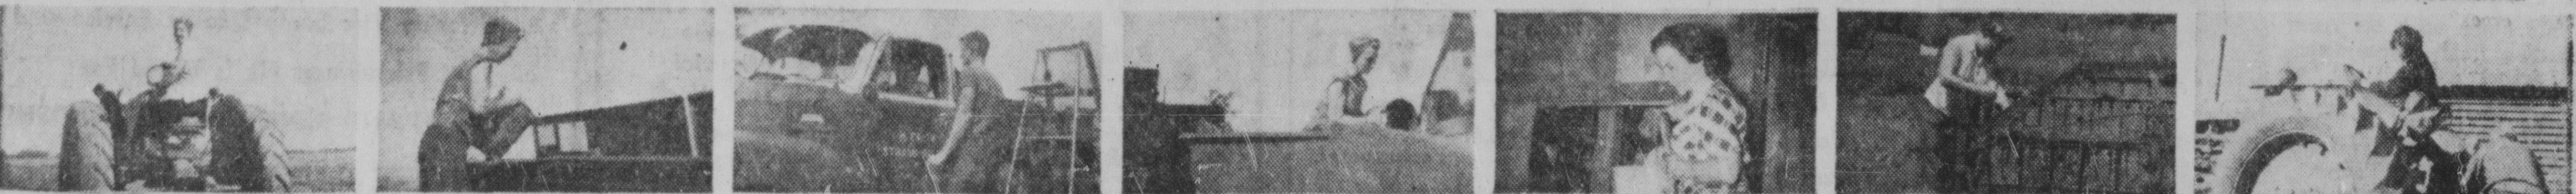

Mrs. Horace Day rings a hog, held by her husband. Couple have three daughters and four grandchildren.

Cooperation on the farm goes both ways. Delosse Evans shows he can handle the wash as well as the plow.

The helping-out by a farm wife is in many cases an economic necessity. If her husband is a small farmer, it may be that he can't afford a hired hand. Or maybe he can't find a good one when he needs him.

AT THE WHEEL. Mrs. Faith Evans drives tractor, pulling a rake, on husband's farm at Windsor, Ill. Besides being farm helper and housewife, she's correspondent for the Decatur, Ill., Herald and Review. She took other pictures on this page. Husband, Delosse, snapped this one.

A farm wife's life isn't all cooking and quilting bees. Mrs. Don Davis works side by side with husband shoveling corn for silage on their Shelby County, Ill., farm.

Mrs. Russell Carr dumps corn from a wagon into a hoist which carries it to a crib. She regulates the flow by raising or lowering the endgate to prevent an overflow.

Mrs. Ralph Davis does the milking while daughter Darlene holds the cat at bay. The Davises have 50 Holsteins on their farm.

Chatting while they wait to dump loads of wheat at Windsor, Ill., elevator are Mrs. Edward King, Mrs. Floyd Bauer and Esther Cross.

Mrs. Horace Day rings a hog, held by her husband. Couple have three daughters and four grandchildren.

Cooperation on the farm goes both ways. Delosse Evans shows he can handle the wash as well as the plow.

Public Entitled To Court News

One of the problems that bothers lawyers and judges is the effect of newspaper reporting of crimes and court proceedings on a defendant's right to a fair trial. But legal groups which pass resolutions against "trial by newspaper" often neglect to indicate any remedy short of drastic suppression of the news or self-suppression by editors. Such a cure would be worse than the disease.

It is therefore refreshing to read of a court decision which in effect recognizes that this problem is the primary responsibility of the courts. The Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia was acting in the appeal of a case where four jurors had read newspaper accounts during the trial — accounts which contained information which, under procedures designed to protect defendants' rights, could not be presented to the jury in the courtroom.

The Court of Appeals, noting that the trial judge had neglected to admonish the jury not to read newspaper accounts of the trial, held that the defendant's case had been irretrievably damaged.

The importance of this decision is that it puts the responsibility where it belongs — on the courts. The right of newspapers to publish the facts, including prejudicial statements by other persons, was explicitly upheld.

The point is that the public is entitled to objective news about courts and about trials. The deterrent effect of penal procedures depends on public knowledge of how they operate, and prospects of improvement depend largely on public knowledge of imperfection in their workings.

The courts, as this verdict emphasizes, have the primary responsibility of making sure that jurors are not prejudiced for or against a defendant by stories of his crime which a newspaper has a right to print and the public to read.

These Days

Title 1 — Scandal!

There is quite a to do about Title 1 in New York City. This is a provision in the Federal Housing Law which was designed to encourage building in a period of deep depression. Ordinarily after a term of non-building due to a depression or war or some such condition, a boom in building and in real estate occurs.

In our large cities such a boom was delayed, principally because the Federal Government intervened with a building program of its own. This program involved a tax abatement and, in some circumstances, guaranteed credits with which private enterprise could not compete.

Title 1, however, was designed not to keep private enterprise out of the building business but to snare it into it. The Taft-Wagner-Ellender Law was designed to bring private capital into the Slum Clearance business. The inducements were a write-down of land costs, the Federal Government and the municipalities joining in the cost. The power of eminent domain was extended so that large plots could be assembled. States granted tax abatements.

A slum is a blighted area of a city, deserted by careful dwellers and currently occupied by the lowest income groups or by those without income who live on charity, even if it is called relief. As most of the houses were originally erected for higher income groups and in many instances for one family, their conversion into multiple dwellings involves alterations which reduce the property to small unit flats. Such buildings may only be owned profitably if they are not maintained decently. Some landlords find even that unprofitable and board the places up, whereupon they become pestholes, overrun by rats and a menace to an entire neighborhood.

In New York City, Robert Moses, as chairman of the Slum Clearance Committee, had designed a formula for using public and private money, tax abatement, the right of eminent domain and a scheme for park-like development to produce a series of housing arrangements for low, middle and higher income groups, which have had the effect of replacing blighted areas with modern buildings. He has combined such housing with necessary public buildings such as the Coliseum and the Lincoln Square project. He has combined utility with beauty.

In some areas such projects can be developed for full tax paying and full rental buildings. This, of course, offends the do-gooders who thereupon decide for themselves that there must be tremendous windfalls, graft, etc., in this enterprise. Nobody dares to accuse Robert Moses of corruption. He has done too much for New York City and the country even for a tyro to denounce him. At 70, he does more work for the public weal than most men do for any reason. But there is ample opportunity to assail his associates most of whom are businessmen and bankers who have served voluntarily for the improvement of their city.

One such man is Thomas J. Shanahan, president of the Federation Bank and Trust Company, who serves on the Slum Clearance Committee and is a public spirited citizen. He, of course, receives no compensation for his public services, but what is demanded of him now is that his bank reject business which may be involved in Title 1 operations. If such a principle could be established, it would mean that nobody but a failure, a hobo or a professional office holder, of whatever accomplishments, could serve.

David Rockefeller, for instance, is chairman of the Downtown-Lower Manhattan Improvement Committee. David Rockefeller is an able citizen, vice chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, one of the largest in the world. It is likely that some of the business involving the improvements of Lower New York would go to his bank, as any other business would. Does that make David Rockefeller a crook?

The absurdity of the conflict of interest argument is that when a city wishes to improve itself and wants to utilize the best brains available for advice, guidance or even management, this doctrine forbids it to invite the participation of its best minds, who naturally will have something else to do.

According to this doctrine, the city may only utilize the knowledge, wisdom and executive ability of those who have failed in life, have nothing to do, have no financial interests or holdings and therefore are available for whatever is open. Does that make sense?

Surrender, War, Or Another Round Of Golf?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON The curious situation that now prevails in the American government is neatly suggested by the contrast between two events of recent days.

One of these was Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's report to the nation on his return from the fruitless meeting at Geneva. As a straight, businesslike account of what happened at Geneva the speech was excellent. But it most conspicuously stopped there. Herter did not disturb the flaccid complacency that prevails in this country.

The businesslike and somewhat flat tone to the speech in fact entirely failed to convey the grave and worried mood of the American negotiators after their Geneva experience. The main reason for this failure, it can now be stated, was the President's dislike for everything "alarmist," as he always calls it. As originally drafted, the speech was considerably stronger, but passages that were construed as "alarmist" were flattened out or omitted by the White House. By order of Dwight D. Eisenhower, the country was not alarmed.

The second event, following quickly on the heels of the first, was the arrival of W. Averell Harriman's account to the State Department of his extraordinary and deeply alarming interview with Nikita S. Khrushchev. Here, in the plain, brutal words of Harriman's cable from Moscow, was the flat, final contradiction of all the American policymakers' optimistic theories about the Berlin crisis.

These theories are of course of the incredible complacency that now gives this country a little air of a Nero who plays golf instead of the fiddle. As will be recalled, the first national response to the challenge at Berlin was impressively sober, realistic and grim. But the mood of sternly preparing for a time of danger was quickly dispelled. It was dispelled by the men at the highest level of the American government, who passed the word that "Khrushchev had got himself out on a limb at Berlin." The story was that Khrushchev would hastily crawl back off his limb, if he were just offered "something to save face."

This feckless theory was succeeded by a second theory, more sophisticated but no less optimistic. Khrushchev, it was suggested, had precipitated the Berlin crisis solely because he hungered and thirsted for a meeting at the summit. Berlin, it was stated, was his prod to get President Eisenhower to go to the summit. Since President Eisenhower was perfectly ready to take the summit road, it was proven once again there was small danger in the Berlin crisis.

The leaders of the American government naturally refrained from officially committing themselves to either of the foregoing theories. There was no need for them to do so. They and their staff simply let it be known, through all the usual channels, that these theories contained the true inward essence of the Berlin problem. Such was the view the country was encouraged to take, and such was the view the country eagerly took. Nations, like people, always like to hear comfortable news.

Among the policy-makers, it must be added, there were able and honest men who originally regarded the Berlin crisis as at least partly artificial. The prod-to-the-summit theory found special favor with a good many men

With the advent of the summer vacation season, the Internal Revenue Service has given notice that it will scrutinize personal tax returns closely to make sure that holiday travel is not deducted as a business expense.

A few years ago, IRS wanted to embark on a program to crack down on expense account living, but the howl raised in Congress forced it to back off. However, IRS still feels that some business executives are doing a lot of "chiseling" on expense accounts, limiting personal travel, hotels and meals as business expenses while they really are vacations.

This year IRS plans to take a really close look at tax deductions for such items as beach cottages, club dues, yachts, airplane trips and the uses of company-owned cars.

The revenue loss to the government is not great, but IRS feels these loopholes must be checked "in fairness to the vast majority of citizens who pay every penny of their tax liability."

Advantages And Hazards Of Swimming Pools

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The back yard swimming pool is a common sight in many neighborhoods. It brings close to home many healthful features, including exercise, relaxation, and cleanliness.

But having a pool also is a responsibility. It must be kept clean and fenced to keep out young children when unattended. Small tots are attracted to water and tumble in easily. I wouldn't have a pool unless every member of the family could swim.

Cleanliness is most important and many pool owners soon learn that their pride and joy requires constant vigilance to keep it decent and respectable. Suction cleaners remove hair, lint, sediment, fibers, and leaves.

A filtration system is not absolutely necessary for a small back yard pool but is a wonderful device for those who can afford the extra cost. It offers a recirculating cleansing system that filters the water in the entire pool every day or two.

Clear water is not always safe water in that bacteria are too small to be seen with the naked eye. Chlorination is the best way to keep the bacterial content nil. Bromine, a chemical kind of chlorine, has a similar disinfecting action.

The chlorine concentration must be checked from time to time to determine whether there is a sufficient disinfectant to take care of the incoming pollution. Bathers continue to contribute to the bacterial load and the busier the pool, the greater the chance for contamination. During the hot days of July and August, bacteria multiply fastest.

Chlorine products can be purchased through chemical supply houses and some hardware and garden supply stores. A special set (orthotolidin test kit) for testing the amount of residual chlorine also is available. The concentration should vary between 0.3 and 0.6 parts per million.

If the water is too acid, the eyes water and burn. This may be prevented by adding soda ash to make the water more alkaline. With a higher alkalinity, additional chlorine may be used to increase the disinfectant action. A Yale study showed that when the pH of the water is 8.0 to 8.9, and the residual chlorine level is 1.0 to 3.99 ppm, there is a minimal amount of irritation to the eyes.

TOMORROW: A promising anti-fungal drug.

SECOND CLASS PROTEINS

F. R. writes: If a person eats dried beans and peas, lentils, eggs, and cheese but no meat, is he getting enough protein?

REPLY Yes, but meat is a richer source of first class proteins. In many countries, beans and lentils are the main sources of proteins because meat is difficult to get or there are religious taboos. The inhabitants of these areas are not always well nourished and usually are of small stature.

Diplomats Advised Eisenhower To Be Unyielding With Kozlov

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It's now possible to give some evaluation of the hectic, highly important visit of Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov to Washington.

Actually the State Department had not expected too much achievement from his trip. They knew him as a technocrat who had concentrated on building Soviet industrial power, with little experience in foreign policy.

However, Ambassador Menshikov had hinted during several trips to the State Department that Kozlov was not a mere lackey of Premier Khrushchev but had important independent standing in the Kremlin.

Just before Kozlov's arrival, Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson had cabled from Moscow that Khrushchev was in a brutally belligerent mood, that he was convinced he had the west on the run, and would offer no concessions regarding Berlin. Thompson drew this deduction from the extremely frank interview Khrushchev gave ex-Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Thompson warned that Khrushchev's mood bordered on the reckless and it was important to keep him from making a dangerous miscalculation.

Sudden New York Trip

Following this warning, both Eisenhower and Nixon were cautioned by Secretary of State Herter to take a tough position in talking to Kozlov. Herter advised that the administration go out of its way to be polite and gracious in entertaining the Russian visitor, but remain unyielding on policies. This was one reason why Eisenhower decided on the spur of the moment to fly to New York to see the Soviet exhibit.

The other reason was because the Russians made it clear that if Khrushchev was expected to greet Vice President Nixon in Moscow, Eisenhower would be expected to greet Kozlov in New York. The message was conveyed in rather blunt language and caused quite a hassle at the White House.

President Eisenhower in the past has refused even to go to the Washington Airport to greet various heads of states, including the President of Italy and the President of Brazil; or to the Union Station to greet the King and Queen of Greece. So he grumbled about going all the way to New York to greet a visitor from a less friendly country who was not even a head of state.

Though Vice President Nixon hoped he would go, he remained neutral. Finally Secretary Herter urged the President to go.

This last-minute decision so took New York police by surprise that there was wild confusion at the New York Coliseum.

Tough Talk

Later, during confidential talks in Washington, Eisenhower did some tough talking to Kozlov. When the deputy premier told the President that 14 years after the end of a war was time to end an allied occupation, Eisenhower snapped back: "That's nonsense and Premier Khrushchev knows it."

The President then proceeded to recall the wartime facts about Berlin. In brief, he said:

"The Allies are in Berlin because of their rights as wartime conquerors of Berlin, and Khrushchev had better not forget it. If Khrushchev wants to trifle with the agreements dividing Berlin, the Russians might find the Allies challenging Russia's legal right to occupy large sections of East Germany and Czechoslovakia.

"After all, the American armies captured these zones and turned them over to Russia as part of the deal to split up Berlin."

Later, Vice President Nixon continued the tough policy advised by Secretary Herter. Needing Kozlov about Russian secrecy, he pointed out that the deputy premier could go anywhere in the USA and had even visited the atomic freighter Savannah which has not yet been launched.

Kozlov kept his good humor despite this tough talk, and afterward made an eloquent Press Club plea for abolition of suspicion and distrust between the United States and Russia. He handled himself with the skill of a seasoned politician accustomed to name-calling in the public arena.

Military Worry

While these conversations were taking place, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, worried over increasing clouds over Berlin, once again considered reinforcing American ground and air forces in West Germany and Europe. With only about 120,000 American troops in the area against 400,000 Russian troops in East Germany, they figured they had better begin preparing for a showdown.

In the past, Eisenhower has bluntly rejected any such reinforcements. He still does. He believes it would create panic among our European allies, especially the British.

But his military advisers point out that Khrushchev won't back down at Berlin for a very simple reason: Moscow now has the military strength.

Tough talk, they caution, is no substitute for strength, and the United States had better increase its strength if it's going to talk tough.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

This week, Mrs. Charles Frechette will be 22. Neither the name nor the age means much. Lots of young ladies will be 22 this week. This one happens to be mine. She is the older of my daughters, the mother of twin girls and will become a mother again next month.

The only reason I mention it is that I am finding it difficult to regard my girls as adults. Perhaps some of you have the problem. I look at Ginny, tall, attractive, an affectionate and intelligent sentimentalist, and I think of her as she was at the age of 3. I have scorn for parents who treat their children as babies.

Still, I cannot help it. The girls are what I have left and they become more precious every moment. I treat them as though they were idiots with pointed heads. I'm sure that they will get lost between the house and the nearest grocery store.

And yet, another voice tells me that Ginny has more sense of true values than her mother or I. When her twins were born last August 9th, I felt that it was hard to be hit with two at such a young age. Charlie wasn't earning enough for a maid, so I thought that I would play the big sport and offer to pay for one.

"Thank you," Ginny said. "But I don't want any help with my babies. One of the nuns in Holy Name Hospital said never to let anybody help you with your children. I'll get by all right."

She did. On Thursdays, when Ginny brings the babies here, and Charlie goes to National Guard drill, I've masked my fascination watching her heat the jars of baby food and the bottles. She places the babies on the bar in the living room, and the little spoon spins from one mouth to the other and back again like an old music professor with a metronome.

When she had these babies, she did not expect twins. She told Dr. Higdon that she wanted no anesthesia; just a natural birth. That's the way it was. Now, when these are a year and two weeks of age, she will have another one. She laughs. "It's going to be such a relief to have only one to change."

Well, Robin and Pamela may have something to say about that. They have four teeth apiece, and they dance to music sitting down. They are identical in every way except that Robin is lighter in weight and three-eighths of an inch longer. She's the hell raiser who likes rough-house fun. Pam is quiet, demure, and wants all the toys and all the attention from mother.

With this kind of a record, how can a father look upon his children as incompetents? It's nutty. But I worry about them as though they were as young as the twins and showing a fever. Gayle will be 16 soon. She is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 125 and is beginning to grow a figure like the number 8.

I'm afraid to give her too much liberty, and I'm afraid to give her too little. I say no so often that she is now in the habit of asking someone else to ask me if she can go on a picnic with boys. Father is the one who is in the awkward age. No matter which way I go, I'm wrong and I am conscious of it.

Ginny, at least, is living her own life. She and Charlie have a house in Lincroft, N. J., and if they make mistakes, the mistakes are theirs. In Gayle's case, all mistakes are mine. When she says: "Is it all right if I go water skiing?" I say "No" automatically.

"Is it all right if I go swimming with the kids?" "It's too cold." It isn't too cold. I'm just too worried. Then I overcompensate by permitting her to go somewhere else, or do something else, so that I will not feel guilty.

This adds up to atrocious management. They are fine girls and their mother never had to worry about either of them. She was as sure of her daughters as she was of the ring on her finger. But the old man was always a pain in the neck. He had to know everything that was going on, and he had to veto half the fun. Sometimes they plotted between themselves, and sometimes they got away with it. Sometimes.

Still, I'm not the worst offender. When I was 45, I visited my mother and she asked me to go to the store for her. I said sure. She pressed a paper in my hand. "What's this?" I said.

"It's a note," she said. "Just give it to the man."

Cleanliness is most important and many pool owners soon learn that their pride and joy requires constant vigilance to keep it decent and respectable. Suction cleaners remove hair, lint, sediment, fibers and leaves.

A filtration system is not absolutely necessary for a small back yard pool but is a wonderful device for those who can afford the extra cost. It offers a recirculating cleansing system that filters the water in the entire pool every day or two.

Clear water is not always safe water in that bacteria are too small to be seen with the naked eye. Chlorination is the best way to keep the bacterial content nil. Bromine, a chemical kin of chlorine, has a similar disinfecting action.

The chlorine concentration must be checked from time to time to determine whether there is a sufficient disinfectant to take care of the incoming pollution. Bathers continue to contribute to the bacterial load and the busier the pool, the greater the chance for contamination. During the hot days of July and August, bacteria multiply fastest.

Chlorine products can be purchased through chemical supply houses and some hardware and garden supply stores. A special set (orthotolid test kit) for testing the amount of residual chlorine also is available. The concentration should vary between 0.3 and 0.6 parts per million.

If the water is too acid, the eyes water and burn. This may be prevented by adding soda ash to make the water more alkaline. With a higher alkalinity, additional chlorine may be used to increase the disinfectant action. A Yale study showed that when the pH of the water is 8.0 to 8.9, and the residual chlorine level is 1.0 to 3.99 ppm, there is a minimal amount of irritation to the eyes.

TOMORROW: A promising anti-fungal drug.

SECOND CLASS PROTEINS

F. R. writes: If a person eats dried beans and peas, lentils, eggs, and cheese but no meat, is he getting enough protein?

REPLY

Yes, but meat is a richer source of first class proteins. In many countries, beans and lentils are the main sources of proteins because meat is difficult to get or there are religious taboos. The inhabitants of these areas are not always well nourished and usually are of small stature.

Diplomats Advised Eisenhower To Be Unyielding With Kozlov

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It's now possible to give some evaluation of the hectic, highly important visit of Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov to Washington.

Actually the State Department had not expected too much achievement from his trip. They knew him as a technocrat who had concentrated on building Soviet industrial power, with little experience in foreign policy.

However, Ambassador Menshikov had hinted during several trips to the State Department that Kozlov was not a mere lackey of Premier Khrushchev but had important independent standing in the Kremlin.

Just before Kozlov's arrival, Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson had cabled from Moscow that Khrushchev was in a brutally belligerent mood, that he was convinced he had the west on the run, and would offer no concessions regarding Berlin. Thompson drew this deduction from the extremely frank interview Khrushchev gave ex-Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Thompson warned that Khrushchev's mood bordered on the reckless and it was important to keep him from making a dangerous miscalculation.

Sudden New York Trip

Following this warning, both Eisenhower and Nixon were cautioned by Secretary of State Herter to take a tough position in talking to Kozlov. Herter advised that the administration go out of its way to be polite and gracious in entertaining the Russian visitor, but remain unyielding on policies. This was one reason why Eisenhower decided on the spur of the moment to fly to New York to see the Soviet exhibit.

The other reason was because the Russians made it clear that if Khrushchev was expected to greet Vice President Nixon in Moscow, Eisenhower would be expected to greet Kozlov in New York. The message was conveyed in rather blunt language and caused quite a hassle at the White House.

President Eisenhower in the past has refused even to go to the Washington Airport to greet various heads of states, including the President of Italy and the President of Brazil; or to the Union Station to greet the King and Queen of Greece. So he grumbled about going all the way to New York to greet a visitor from a less friendly country who was not even a head of state.

Though Vice President Nixon hoped Ike would go, he remained neutral. Finally Secretary Herter urged the President to go.

This last-minute decision so took New York police by surprise that there was wild confusion at the New York Coliseum.

Tough Talk

Later, during confidential talks in Washington, Eisenhower did some tough talking to Kozlov. When the deputy premier told the President that 14 years after the end of a war was time to end an allied occupation, Eisenhower snapped back: "That's nonsense and Premier Khrushchev knows it."

The President then proceeded to recall the wartime facts about Berlin. In brief, he said:

"The Allies are in Berlin because of their rights as wartime conquerors of Berlin, and Khrushchev had better not forget it. If Khrushchev wants to trifle with the agreements dividing Berlin, the Russians might find the Allies challenging Russia's legal right to occupy large sections of East Germany and Czechoslovakia.

"After all, the American armies captured these zones and turned them over to Russia as part of the deal to split up Berlin."

Later, Vice President Nixon continued the tough policy advised by Secretary Herter. Needling Kozlov about Russian secrecy, he pointed out that the deputy premier could go anywhere in the USA and had even visited the atomic freighter Savannah which has not yet been launched.

Kozlov kept his good humor despite this tough talk, and afterward made an eloquent Press Club plea for abolition of suspicion and distrust between the United States and Russia. He handled himself with the skill of a seasoned politician accustomed to name-calling in the public arena.

Military Worry

While these conversations were taking place, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, worried over increasing clouds over Berlin, once again considered reinforcing American ground and air forces in West Germany and Europe. With only about 120,000 American troops in the area against 400,000 Russian troops in East Germany, they figured they had better begin preparing for a showdown.

In the past, Eisenhower has bluntly rejected any such reinforcements. He still does. He believes it would create panic among our European allies, especially the British.

But his military advisers point out that Khrushchev won't back down at Berlin for a very simple reason: Moscow now has the military strength.

Tough talk, they caution, is no substitute for strength, and the United States had better increase its strength if it's going to talk tough.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

This week, Mrs. Charles Frechette will be 22. Neither the name nor the age means much. Lots of young ladies will be 22 this week. This one happens to be mine. She is the older of my daughters, the mother of twin girls and will become a mother again next month.

The only reason I mention it is that I am finding it difficult to regard my girls as adults. Perhaps some of you have the problem. I look at Ginny, tall, attractive, an affectionate and intelligent sentimentalist, and I think of her as she was at the age of 3. I have scorn for parents who treat their children as babies.

Still, I cannot help it. The girls are what I have left and they become more precious every moment. I treat them as though they were idiots with pointed heads. I'm sure that they will get lost between the house and the nearest grocery store.

And yet, another voice tells me that Ginny has more sense of true values than her mother or I.

When her twins were born last August 9th, I felt that it was hard to be hit with two at such a young age. Charlie wasn't earning enough for a maid, so I thought that I would play the big sport and offer to pay for one.

"Thank you," Ginny said. "But I don't want any help with my babies. One of the nuns in Holy Name Hospital said never to let anybody help you with your children. I'll get by all right."

She did. On Thursdays, when Ginny brings the babies here, and Charlie goes to National Guard drill, I've masked my fascination watching her heat the jars of baby food and the bottles. She places the babies on the bar in the living room, and the little spoon spins from one mouth to the other and back again like an old music professor with a metronome.

When she had these babies, she did not expect twins. She told Dr. Higdon that she wanted no anesthesia; just a natural birth. That's the way it was. Now, when these are a year and two weeks of age, she will have another one. She laughs. "It's going to be such a relief to have only one to change."

Well, Robin and Pamela may have something to say about that. They have four teeth apiece, and they dance to music sitting down. They are identical in every way except that Robin is lighter in weight and three-eighths of an inch longer. She's the hell raiser who likes rough-house fun. Pam is quiet, demure, and wants all the toys and all the attention from mother.

With this kind of a record, how can a father look upon his children as incompetents? It's nutty. But I worry about them as though they were as young as the twins and showing a fever. Gayle will be 16 soon. She is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 125 and is beginning to grow a figure like the number 8.

I'm afraid to give her too much liberty, and I'm afraid to give her too little. I say no so often that she is now in the habit of asking someone else to ask me if she can go on a picnic with boys. Father is the one who is in the awkward age. No matter which way I go, I'm wrong and I am conscious of it.

Ginny, at least, is living her own life. She and Charlie have a house in Lincroft, N. J., and if they make mistakes, the mistakes are theirs. In Gayle's case, all mistakes are mine. When she says: "Is it all right if I go water skiing?" I say "No" automatically.

"Is it all right if I go swimming with the kids?" "It's too cold." "It's not too cold." "It's just too worried. Then I overcompensate by permitting her to go somewhere else, or do something else, so that I will not feel guilty."

This adds up to atrocious management. They are fine girls and their mother never had to worry about either of them. She was as sure of her daughters as she was of the ring on her finger. But the old man was always a pain in the neck. He had to know everything that was going on, and he had to veto half the fun. Sometimes they plotted between themselves, and sometimes they got away with it. Sometimes.

Still, I'm not the worst offender. When I was 45, I visited my mother and she asked me to go to the store for her. I said sure. She pressed a paper in my hand. "What's this?" I said. "It's a note," she said. "Just give it to the man."

Kline Scores Eleven Inning Victory, 3-2

Mazeroski Sinks Cincy; Buccos Cop First, 7-5

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Billy Kline's run-scoring single in the 11th inning earned the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Sunday in the nightcap of a twin-bill. The Pirates also capped the opener 7-5.

Right-hander Ronnie Kline was sailing along 2-0 on a 3-hitter in the nightcap until he walked Frank Robinson with one out in the ninth and then Gus Bell unloaded a homer to send the game into extra innings.

Kline drove in the first two runs with a bases-loaded single in the second and went the rest of the way for his seventh triumph.

Danny Kravitz led off the 11th for the Pirates with a double to right but pinch-runner Benny Daniels was tagged out at third on a grounder by Dick Stuart. Bob Skinner bounced out to first and Mazeroski then singled through the box for the game-winning run.

The Pirates came from behind twice in the opener and broke open a tie game with three runs in the sixth with Don Hoak homering off loser Brooks Lawrence for the big hit.

Frank Robinson and Pete Whisenant hit home runs for Cincinnati in the opener. Robinson smashed a two-run sock in the second, and Whisenant homered in the eighth.

CCC Men Golfers To Play Kingwood

The men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club will engage in its fifth match of the season next Sunday, meeting the Preston Country Club team at Kingwood, W. Va.

The C.C.C. team has beaten Fountain Head of Hagerstown, Martinsburg Golf and Country Club, North Fork of Johnstown, Maplehurst of Frostburg in matches played to date.

Tomorrow the Women's Golf Association will hold a Flag Tournament.

A mixed scotch foursome tournament is set for Friday after 4 p.m., with dinner on the patio.

Police Halt Riot After Brazil Bout

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Panamanian-born Fred Thompson and Jorge Fernandez were booed and pelted with coins Saturday night as they showed little will to fight in a 10-round welterweight bout. Thompson won on points.

Both are challengers for the Argentine crown. Thousands of fans at the Luna Park Stadium got out of hand when Thompson spent the night holding his rival, and Fernandez was unable to hit the Panamanian.

Fans started bonfires on the stands, wrecked chairs and fought 16 holes Sunday to capture his stadium employees who turned fire hoses on them. Policemen finally put an end to the riot with a few tear gas grenades.

The Municipal Boxing Commission ordered the purses held up in the 40th renewal of the tournament pending an investigation.

Brooks Cops Grand Prix Auto Race

Britisher Pilots Ferrari To Victory

REIMS, France (AP)—Britain's Tony Brooks jammed his fiery-red Ferrari into the lead from the start Sunday to win the Grand Prix de Europe automobile race at record-breaking speed.

In second place was Phil Hill of Los Angeles in another squat Ferrari. Brooks' blistering speed — set under a torrid sun that wilted cars and drivers alike — was 205.079 kilometers (127.3 miles) per hour and broke the old record set by the late Mike Hawthorn of Britain in 1958 when he won the race with a speed 201.898 kilometers (125.4 miles) per hour.

Jack Brabham of Australia sped his Cooper into third position to hold the lead in the world's driving championship with 19 points. Britain's hard luck Sterling Moss lost almost all hope of the drivers' championship when his BRM spun into a hay bale barrier late in the race. He managed to drive away but his clutch was jammed and he was out of the race—with the consolation of having driven the fastest lap at a time of 209.287 kilometers (129.9 miles) per hour.

The hot weather took a heavy toll of drivers and cars. Only 12 of the 21 starters finished.

Brooks, who had set the best time in the trials, swept into the lead from the pole position in the first 100 yards of the race. No one ever seriously challenged him.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI)—Big Bill Campbell turned on the steam in the final 16 holes Sunday to capture his sixth West Virginia Men's Amateur title.

Art Wall Ties Finsterwald In Buick Tourney

Windup With 282s, Playoff Set Today

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI)—Dow Finsterwald and Art Wall Jr. both went over par on the final hole Sunday to tie for first place in the $52,000 Buick Open golf tournament and will meet Monday in an 18-hole playoff for the title.

Finsterwald, 29, needed only a par four on the 453-yard finishing hole. But he missed the green with his second shot, overshot his third but then chipped within three feet for a one-putt and a tie.

Minutes earlier, Wall had taken a double bogie six on the same hole when it appeared he had wrapped up his fourth title of the year. He also was over the green, but needed two putts to get down after chipping back.

Both Had 72S

Both Finsterwald, of Tequesta, Fla., and Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., had par 72 for the final round and finished with 282 totals.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Hollywood, Fla., who was eight strokes off the pace starting the final 18, fired a course record 65 and finished only one stroke behind the co-leaders. Middlecoff was eight strokes under for the round until the seventh, where he took a bogie four which cost him a share of first place.

Middlecoff finished at 283, along with Jerry Barber, Los Angeles, who closed with a 67.

Another stroke back were Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., and Pete Cooper, Lakeland, Fla., who both shot three-under-par 69s in the closing round.

Ken Venturi, San Francisco, was seventh at 285, while Arnold Palmer, Ligonier, Pa., and Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C., tied for eighth at 286.

Title Bout Set For West Coast

By The Associated Press

Two world champions, bantamweight Alphonse Halimi of France and welterweight Don Jordan of Los Angeles, defend their titles this week in West Coast settings.

Both 15-rounders will be televised nationally.

Halimi takes on Mexico's Joe Becerra Wednesday night at Los Angeles sports arena. Jordan faces Denny Moyer, unbeaten 18-year-old contender, in Moyer's home town of Portland, Ore., Friday night. Halimi is a 2-1 favorite. Jordan is a 9-5 choice.

Halimi, 27, has won six straight nontitle fights. His record is 27-1, including 15 knockouts.

Jordan, 25, has a 45-11 record, including 15 kayos.

Chisox Beat Kansas City In Tenth, 4-3

Nellie Fox's Hit Beats Ned Garver

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Al Smith tied the score with a home run in the ninth and the Chicago White Sox went on to defeat the Kansas City Athletics 4-3 Sunday. Luis Aparicio singled, stole second and then scampered home on Nellie Fox's safety in the 10th inning.

Pitcher Ned Garver had limited the White Sox to five hits going into the last half of the ninth and had a perfect day at the plate with two singles and a home run.

Garver subsequently got a third single as lead-off batter in the bottom of the ninth, but it was small consolation.

Garver's homer was a line drive into a strong breeze in the sixth inning. He had previously driven in a run with a looping hit to center in the fourth.

Power's Grounder Eludes Osborne To Win Game In 10th

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians scored a tainted 10th-inning run Sunday and edged the Detroit Tigers 5-4 in a rharubair spiced game.

George Strickland, who led off the 10th with a sliced double to right, raced home with the winning run when Vic Power's grounder rolled through first baseman Larry Osborne.

Barrelville reeled off its fifth consecutive victory at the expense of the Grantsville Sluggers yesterday at Grantsville by the score of 7-1 and extended its lead to three games in the Pen-Mar Baseball League.

Hyndman went into a tie for second place with Salisbury by defeating Centerville's Reds at Centerville, 4-0, while the Salisbury Cardinals were taking it on the chin to the tune of 11-10 in an upset registered by the last place Wellersburg club.

In the fourth Sunday contest, Mt. Savage trimmed the Flintstone Farmers at Mt. Savage by the score of 7-2.

Two Hurlers Walk 11

Bobby Dawson went the route for Manager "Buck" Florita's Old Exports and registered his fifth win of the season against a single loss. Dawson's only setback came in a 2-1 contest with Salisbury on June 14. He limited the Sluggers to five hits and struck out nine. Wes Lashbaugh and Dave Richards yielded only seven hits but they issued a total of 11 bases on balls and the free tickets figured prominently in the scoring.

Dorci Kline collected three hits and Emerick had two for Barrelville. Joe Taylor accounted for two of the five hits credited to the Garrett Countians.

Robert "Abe" See and Stan Corley collaborated in pitching the Merchants of Hyndman to a shutout triumph over Centerville. It was the 7th shutout registered in the league this season and the first credited to Hyndman. Barrelville pitchers are credited with four white-washing jobs.

"Ab" Set Notches 7th

See got credit for his 7th triumph against three losses but he needed help from Corley, who came on in the 8th with the bases loaded and one out. Corley retired the side on one pitch when a double play halted the Reds. The Hyndman reliever also hurled hitless ball in the ninth.

Lou Hite, Hyndman first baseman, collected a triple, double and single while Bob Bryant doubled and singled for the Merchants. No Centerville player obtained more than one hit as the team had a total of six.

Salisbury ran into a barrage of 20 hits unleashed by Wellersburg's basement dwellers and lost a wild one in the final frame when Peck's single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning broke a 10-10 deadlock.

Wellersburg's attack was paced by John Witt who collected four safeties. Peck garnered a double and two singles, Kenny Neubiser and Smith also had three hits and Bob Gomer rapped a pair of two-baggers.

"Baldy" Powell, Wellersburg centerfielder, turned in a nice one-handed running catch and Shortstop Witt prevented Salisbury from scoring in the top of the ninth when he raced into right-center to snare a pop fly after Thomas had led off the inning with a triple.

Miller banded a double and two singles, Lowery had a two-bagger and single and Thomas smashed a triple for Salisbury.

Ronnie Neubeiser went all the way for Wellersburg to register his fourth win against three losses. The loss was charged to Bernie McCracken, his third against five wins.

Dickel Masters Farmers The veteran Ralph Dickel hurled Mt. Savage to victory over Flintstone, yielding four hits and retiring 16 batsmen in order from the first to the 7th inning. The win gave him a 2-2 record for the campaign.

Fay Often clouted a homer in the 7th. Rodney Johnson collected a double and single and George Bishields obtained three singles for Mt. Savage.

Russ Jones, Flintstone hurler, gave up seven hits and fanned 12. Jim Hammond belted a triple and single and Johnny Price rapped a two-bagger for Flintstone.

In league games played on Saturday, Hyndman edged Grantsville, 8-7. Flintstone downed Wellersburg, 13-4. Barrelville won over Centerville, 11-6, and Salisbury topped Mt. Savage, 8-5.

Baltimore Drops Pair To Red Sox

Brewer, Baumann Winners, 9-0, 6-3

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Boston Red Sox snapped a seven-game losing streak Sunday, sweeping a doubleheader from the Baltimore Orioles 9-0 and 6-3 for their first victories under Manager Bill Jurgens.

Mike Higgins was fired as manager of the last-place Sox Friday and Jurgens took over Saturday. He had been a coach for the Washington Senators.

Tom Brewer pitched the shut-out in the opener. He allowed only three singles, two of them off infielders' gloves, and didn't allow a runner past second base while returning the side in order in six innings.

Catcher Sammy White aided his batterymate with five runs batted in and Jackie Jensen knocked in two tallies, one on his 18th homer of the year. The Sox scored three runs in the fourth off loser Hal Brown and five more in the fifth inning.

Jensen added four singles in the second game, driving in three more runs to give him 60 for the season. Don Buddin his fifth homer of the year for Boston in the seventh inning.

Lefty Frank Baumann won the nightcap from Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore knuckleballer who failed for the fifth time to win his 10th game. Wilhelm, who started the year with nine straight victories, now is 9-4.

Baumann allowed only two singles by Gus Triandos in 5-2-3 innings, but he was relieved by Frank Sullivan in the sixth after walking four batters to force in a run. Pinchhitter Bob Boyd slugged a long drive off Sullivan, but centerfielder Marty Keough made a long running catch in right center. Triandos' two-run homer in the seventh, following an error by Pete Runnels, and ninth inning singles by Boyd and Bob Nieman were the only hits off Sullivan in his mopup job.

The Red Sox cracked out 26 hits as they took their third doubleheader from the Orioles this season.

Ted Williams, moved to the sixth spot in the batting order by Manager Jurgens, made two singles in five times at bat and walked once. He was replaced by Gene Stephens in the middle innings of both games.

Giants, Cards Divide Pair Of 4-2 Games

White's Grand Slam Clout Wins Opener

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The San Francisco Giants, knocked out of first place 4-2 by ex-Giant Bill White's grand slam homer, moved back within a scant three percentage points of the top by stopping the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2 in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday.

Ex-Cardinal Sad Sam Jones was the second game winner although he needed help from Stu Miller and Johnny Antonelli. Willie Mays belted a two-run homer to give Jones an early edge.

Rookie Ernie Broglio, an ex-Giant farmhand, stopped San Francisco with a steady six-hitter in the opener. The largest crowd of the season here 28,431, watched in 90-degree heat.

The Giants reached the All-Star game interlude with a 46-35 record for a .568 percentage, in a virtual tie but in second place behind Milwaukee's 44-33 for .571.

The story of the first game wrapped in one swing of White's bat. His first-pitch homer off Jack Sanford with the bases jammed in the fifth gave Broglio a 4-1 lead. It was White's 8th of the season.

Kaline May Play With All-Stars DETROIT (AP)—Ailing Al Kaline Sunday awaited a doctor's ruling before deciding if he would be able to start in center field for the American League in Tuesday's All-Star game.

"I'm going to the doctor tomorrow morning and will know better then if I can go to Pittsburgh," said the Detroit Tiger slugger.

Kaline's left cheek was fractured by an errant throw June 18 by Baltimore's second baseman Billy Gardner. He underwent surgery and returned to the lineup June 24. But a second operation was required last Monday.

National Loop 6-5
Favorite Tuesday;
AL Has 15-10 Edge

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Baltimore's Hoyt Wilhelm and Milwaukee's Lew Burdette are expected to be the starting pitchers in Tuesday's 26th All-Star baseball game at Forbes Field.

Managers Casey Stengel of the American League and Fred Haney of the National will make their official announcements Monday when the batting orders also will be released to newsmen.

Stengel, the New York Yankee skipper who will be running his ninth All-Star club, has hinted strongly that the Baltimore knuckleball pitcher would be his starter. On a recent visit to Baltimore, he told catcher Gus Triandos of the Orioles, "you are my catcher and you are going to be catching somebody close to you."

Wilhelm, a non-playing member of the 1953 All-Star squad in the National League, has enjoyed a remarkable comeback this year as a starter.

Stengel is expected to give the Nationals a good look at Ryne Duren, his Yankee relief ace. He probably will save Duren for the late innings, using either Chicago's Early Wynn or Detroit's Jim Bunning in the middle innings.

That would leave Chicago's Billy Pierce, Kansas City's Bud Daley and the Yanks' Whitey Ford for trouble spots.

Drysdale Possibility If Haney decides against Burdette he might go with Don Drysdale, the Los Angeles Dodger ace whose sidearm delivery is so effective against right handed batters. There is only one left handed batter, second baseman Nellie Fox of Chicago, in the American starting lineup.

Warren Spahn, 38-year-old southpaw ace of the Braves' staff, would be the logical choice if the American batting order weren't jammed with so many right handers.

When Stengel starts to run in his left handed pinch hitters, like Ted Williams of Boston and Yogi Berra of New York after the first three innings, Haney probably will switch to a left hander—either Spahn or San Francisco's Johnny Antonelli. Gene Conley, lanky Philadelphia right hander who was traded away by Haney last

Moorefield Snares Pair

Beats Belington And Strasburg

Moorefield kept its record unblemished in the Mountain State Baseball League by defeating Belington yesterday at Moorefield by the score of 7-4.

The victory gave the Hardy Countians a 7-0 league record in the eight-club circuit. Moorefield now holds a three-game lead over its closest competitor.

Randall Raines, who supplanted Gordon Raines on the mound in the fifth inning, received credit for the win when Moorefield came from behind to forge ahead on a two-run rally in the 6th. Two insurance tallies were added in the seventh.

Harlan Hott, Don Smith, Paul Raines and Jimmy Barr garnered two hits each for the winners. Smith slammed a triple and Raines rapped a two-bagger. Bob Wilson excelled at second base for Moorefield.

In a Saturday game, Moorefield whipped Strasburg (Va.) of the Apple Valley League by the score of 10-5 at Moorefield. The win gave Moorefield an even break in two games with the Virginians. The third game is set for Strasburg, July 18.

Harold Mongold went the route for Moorefield and struck out eleven in the July 4 contest. Harlan Hott was the batting star with a pair of homers. He scored four of the ten runs. The scores:

Charles Robinson, Of Fort Hill, Gets Pitt Scholarship

Charles Robinson, three sports star at Fort Hill High School, who was graduated last month, has accepted a football scholarship at the University of Pittsburgh.

Robinson has quarterbacked Fort Hill football teams for the past two seasons and was named on the All-City team both years.

He also has excelled in basketball and track at Fort Hill.

Robinson will play with the Prep All-Americans against the Pennsylvania All-Stars at Hershey, Pa., August 1.

At Pitt, Robinson plans to major in education and minor in physical education.

Charles is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Robinson, 609 Kent Avenue. His father is a well known heating and plumbing contractor.

Robinson is the third Fort Hill grader of 1958 to receive a scholarship. Bill Hahn, son of the Fort Hill coach, will attend the U.S. Naval Academy, and Leroy Henry will be Robinson's roommate at Pitt.

spring, is another possibility for the middle innings.

Haney has two of the best relievers in the National League in his bullpen for the late innings. They are Roy Face of Pittsburgh and Don Elston, Chicago Cub right hander who was named Saturday as a replacement for the ailing Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell of St. Louis.

National 6-5 Choice

The National is a slight 6 to 5 favorite in the Pittsburgh park although the American holds a 15-10 edge in the series. This is only the first of two All-Star games this year, with the second set for Aug. 3 at Los Angeles.

Ex-Cardinal Sad Sam Jones was the second game winner although he needed help from Stu Miller and Johnny Antonelli. Willie Mays belted a two-run homer to give Jones an early edge.

Rookie Ernie Broglio, an ex-Giant farmhand, stopped San Francisco with a steady six-hitter in the opener. The largest crowd of the season here 28,431, watched in 90-degree heat.

The Giants reached the All-Star game interlude with a 46-35 record for a .568 percentage, in a virtual tie but in second place behind Milwaukee's 44-33 for .571.

The story of the first game wrapped in one swing of White's bat. His first-pitch homer off Jack Sanford with the bases jammed in the fifth gave Broglio a 4-1 lead. It was White's 8th of the season.

Burdette, Wilhelm May Start All-Star Game

National Loop 6-5
Favorite Tuesday;
AL Has 15-10 Edge

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Baltimore's Hoyt Wilhelm and Milwaukee's Lew Burdette are expected to be the starting pitchers in Tuesday's 26th All-Star baseball game at Forbes Field.

Managers Casey Stengel of the American League and Fred Haney of the National will make their official announcements Monday when the batting orders also will be released to newsmen.

Stengel, the New York Yankee skipper who will be running his ninth All-Star club, has hinted strongly that the Baltimore knuckler pitcher would be his starter. On a recent visit to Baltimore, he told catcher Gus Triandos of the Orioles, "you are my catcher and you are going to be catching somebody close to you."

Wilhelm, a non-playing member of the 1953 All-Star squad in the National League, has enjoyed a remarkable comeback this year as a starter.

Stengel is expected to give the Nationals a good look at Ryne Duren, his Yankee relief ace. He probably will save Duren for the late innings, using either Chicago's Early Wynn or Detroit's Jim Bunning in the middle innings. That would leave Chicago's Billy Pierce, Kansas City's Bud Daley and the Yanks' Whitey Ford for trouble spots.

Drysdale Possibility

If Haney decides against Burdette he might go with Don Drysdale, the Los Angeles Dodger ace whose sidearm delivery is so effective against right handed batters. There is only one left handed batter, second baseman Nellie Fox of Chicago, in the American starting lineup.

Warren Spahn, 38-year-old southpaw ace of the Braves' staff, would be the logical choice if the American batting order weren't jammed with so many right handers.

When Stengel starts to run in his left handed pinch hitters, like Ted Williams of Boston and Yogi Berra of New York after the first three innings, Haney probably will switch to a left hander — either Spahn or San Francisco's Johnny Antonelli. Gene Conley, lanky Philadelphia right hander who was traded away by Haney last

Kaline May Play With All-Stars

DETROIT (AP)—Ailing Al Kaline Sunday awaited a doctor's ruling before deciding if he would be able to start in center field for the American League in Tuesday's All-Star game.

"I'm going to the doctor tomorrow morning and will know better then if I can go to Pittsburgh," said the Detroit Tiger slugger.

Kaline's left cheek was fractured by an errant throw June 18 by Baltimore's second baseman Billy Gardner. He underwent surgery and returned to the lineup June 24. But a second operation was required last Monday.

Moorefield Snares Pair

Beats Belington And Strasburg

Moorefield kept its record unblemished in the Mountain State Baseball League by defeating Belington yesterday at Moorefield by the score of 7-4.

The victory gave the Hardy Countians a 7-0 league record in the eight-club circuit. Moorefield now holds a three-game lead over its closest competitor.

Randall Raines, who supplanted Gordon Raines on the mound in the fifth inning, received credit for the win when Moorefield came from behind to forge ahead on a two-run rally in the 6th. Two insurance tallies were added in the seventh.

Harlan Hott, Don Smith, Paul Raines and Jimmy Barr garnered two hits each for the winners. Smith slammed a triple and Raines rapped a two-bagger. Bob Wilson excelled at second base for Moorefield.

In a Saturday game, Moorefield whipped Strasburg (Va.) of the Apple Valley League by the score of 10-5 at Moorefield. The win gave Moorefield an even break in two games with the Virginians. The third game is set for Strasburg, July 18.

Harold Mongold went the route for Moorefield and struck out eleven in the July 4 contest. Harlan Hott was the batting star with a pair of homers. He scored four of the ten runs. The scores:

SUNDAY GAME:
Belington 110 020 000-4 8 2
Moorefield 201 062 206-7 11 8

Birds Option

Jim Finigan

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles Sunday optioned infielder Jim Finigan to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League on 24-hour recall.

Finigan was obtained by the Orioles after he divided his 1958 playing time between the San Francisco Giants of the National League and Phoenix of the Coast League.

To fill Finigan's spot on the roster, the Orioles are expected to recall one of three young infielders from Vancouver — Brooks Robinson, Ron Hansen or Marv Breeding.

West Virginia Title Won By Sally Carroll

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI)—Vivacious Sally Carroll climaxed a long uphill climb Sunday to win the West Virginia women's amateur golf tournament.

The pretty Wheeling elementary school teacher won 4-3 over Nancy Stump—her friend since childhood and almost constant golfing companion.

Manager Sidney "Ike" Grimm's Springfield tilters broke the tie for first place in the Hampshire County Baseball League yesterday by defeating Capon Bridge at Springfield by the score of 4-2.

The win gave Springfield a 6-1 record. Capon Bridge and Springfield were tied for the league leadership prior to yesterday's contest.

Harold "Butch" Carl twirled the first six innings for Springfield, yielded only one hit, fanned six and received credit for the win. Tom Frey came on to pitch the last three innings.

Springfield put the game on ice with a four-hit, three-run rally in the fifth inning. Dave Cessa batted in two of the tallies with a timely hit.

Gene Henderson and Cessa collected two hits each for Springfield.

Augusta moved into a tie with Capon Bridge for second place by trouncing Timber Ridge at Augusta to the tune of 18-4.

The winners collected 19 hits, including circuit wallpops by John Smith and Lee Himeright hit a round-tripper for Timber Ridge.

Dane McGee obtained five hits in five official trips to the plate as Junction downed Slanesville by the score of 9-4 and dropped the latter team into the league basement.

Dale Stickley limited Slanesville to four hits.

Milwaukee Sends Wise To Colonels

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Reserve infielder Casey Wise was optioned by the Milwaukee Braves Sunday to the Louisville farm team of the American Association.

Wise, recalled from Louisville earlier in the season, batted only .171 with 13 hits in 76 trips to the plate. His demotion by the parent team came less than 24 hours after a base running boner cost Milwaukee a possible victory in Philadelphia Saturday night.

Wise, inserted as a pinch runner, couldn't make up his mind on an apparent double to right by Billy Bruton. Wise went back to second as Bruton moved in and the latter was tagged for one out. Wise then stepped off second and was tagged to complete the double play.

Not all of Mickey Rooney's earnings have gone into paying alimony. Some of the money he has left from his successful pictures will go into a new enterprise, the Mickey Rooney School of Dramatics, Music and Writing. The Mick will draw upon his 37 years as an actor to personally supervise the selection of teachers who will be specialists in all phases of show business. The first school will be opened in Los Angeles Jan. 15, and similar institutions will be franchised in 12 other major cities through the country. Mickey's own Fryman Company will open an agency division to represent the stu-

P.S.: Please get rid of that beard, Sal. It makes you look like a beatnik!

Errol Flynn has been surprisingly quiet about Patricia Wynter's suit for separate maintenance. I personally think Pat has had the patience of an angel. Far be it from me to take sides, but Errol can be most trying, largely because he usually looks upon important moments in his life as just a joke.

With all his troubles he is now negotiating with Anita Ekberg and Trevor Howard to co-star in "The Scavengers." The movie Errol and John Ireland plan to film in Switzerland. It's an original story by John Collier. Ireland claims he and Errol have all the financial backing they need.

The world famous Burns and Allen act will be revived at the Sahara in Las Vegas. But hold everything — only for one night — and without Gracie!

Jack Benny will substitute for Gracie and will do a song and dance routine with George as well as Gracie's patter. Maybe you remember a few years ago, Jack was a riot in this same act. Gracie was sick and Jack substituted for her and he and George got a million laughs.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In a short time, you can regain figure loveliness.

How Young?

Are you pleased with the way you look in a bathing suit?

Now that fashion has shifted from loose to fitted clothes, and put the belt back in circulation, is your midriff able to take the new restriction?

When you play tennis do you tire easily and have a feeling of strain? From a standing-on-heels position can you lower your body gracefully to that of sitting-on-heels?

These are but a few questions to ask yourself if you want to get in that younger-than-spring-time mood. Feeling younger than your years is a healthy sign. But, how young is your body? That is the true test. By that we mean... can you exercise freely without feeling fatigue?

You probably need to embark on what we call our "summerized" program—that is, if you wish to bring your appearance to peak attractiveness. Before 10 days has passed not only your figure, but your skin and hair will be more beautiful if you follow the day-by-day suggestions. And, if you continue the pattern for 30 days your beauty quota will be tripled—or more so. You will start feeling young, more alive and alert and look it. The secret is all within the covers of our booklet, "Summerizing Your Beauty" and doing it daily. Just send along 10 cents in coin to me, in care of this newspaper and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

There are beauty-making menus given as a pattern for eating (each day begins with a tempting breakfast) plus exercises that are slimmers, limbers, gracemakers and relaxers. Eating and exercising according to this laboratory-tested program will soon have you feeling and looking refreshed. What a balm to eyes that are bound to glance your way!

Keep it up and you will look and feel wonderfully fit all summer long.

Hartman Appointed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore City Solicitor Harrison L. Winter announced Saturday the appointment of Ambrose T. Hartman, former assistant attorney general, as deputy city solicitor. Hartman, 34, was an assistant attorney general for Maryland from 1951 to 1955. Since that time he has been an associate of the Baltimore law firm of Semmes, Bowen and Semmes.

ROK Atomic Reactor

INCHON, Korea (AP)—The first parts of a $730,000 atomic reactor arrived here from the United States Sunday. The 100-kilowatt open pool type reactor will be installed at the national nuclear research laboratories in a village on the northeastern outskirts of Seoul which is to become South Korea's atomic center.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ 9 2 ♥ 10 8 3 ♦ K J 7 4 ♣ A J 6 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Partner's jump rebid is forcing to game and the suggested bid is three no trump inasmuch as you have the minor suits doubly stopped. A raise to four hearts is not recommended, for though partner made a jump shift it might have been on a four card heart suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ 7 ♥ K Q 10 9 7 4 ♦ J 10 9 6 ♣ A 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. With this strong six card suit and a reasonably good holding in diamonds, you should take the chance yourself. Partner might have to pass three hearts on a hand that could produce a game.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♥ Q 7 8 7 4 3 ♦ A 7 6 5 4 10
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠
Double Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. This hand is almost worthless defensively but has fine offensive potentialities. Partner's bidding indicates that he has very little support for hearts, but this is practically an independent suit which a singleton honor will solidify.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ J 7 ♥ A Q 6 5 ♦ A J 10 ♣ A K J 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Five diamonds. Slam is a strong possibility and this looks like the best exploratory maneuver. If partner has a fitting card in diamonds or a reasonably good spade suit, he will surely react favorably to your slam suggestion.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ A 8 5 ♦ Q 9 6 4 3 ♣ A Q 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four clubs. Your hand re-evaluates to 19 points in support of clubs which with the minimum of your partner has promised by virtue of his two-over-one response spells a sure game. But there could be even bigger things brewing, and the immediate jump is the best way to indicate your ambitions.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ 7 ♥ A Q 6 4 ♦ K J 8 6 5 ♣ A 9 6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 NT Pass 3 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. The heart suit should be shown at this point even though it is not probable that partner will show up with four of that suit. It will facilitate partner's reading of your distribution should you find it expedient to show club support on a subsequent round.

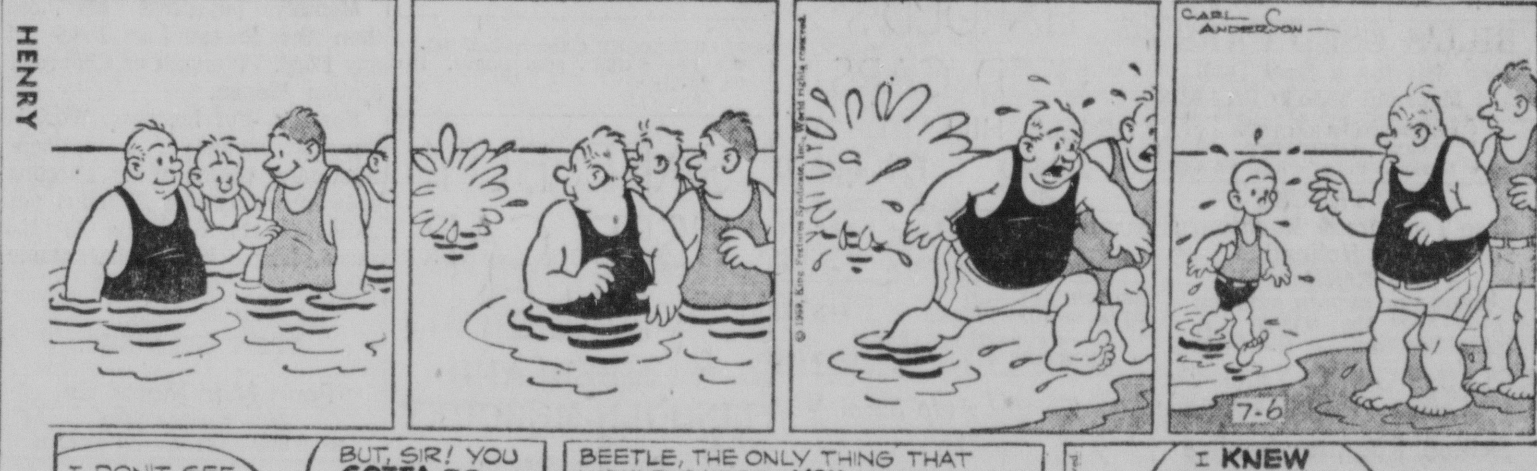

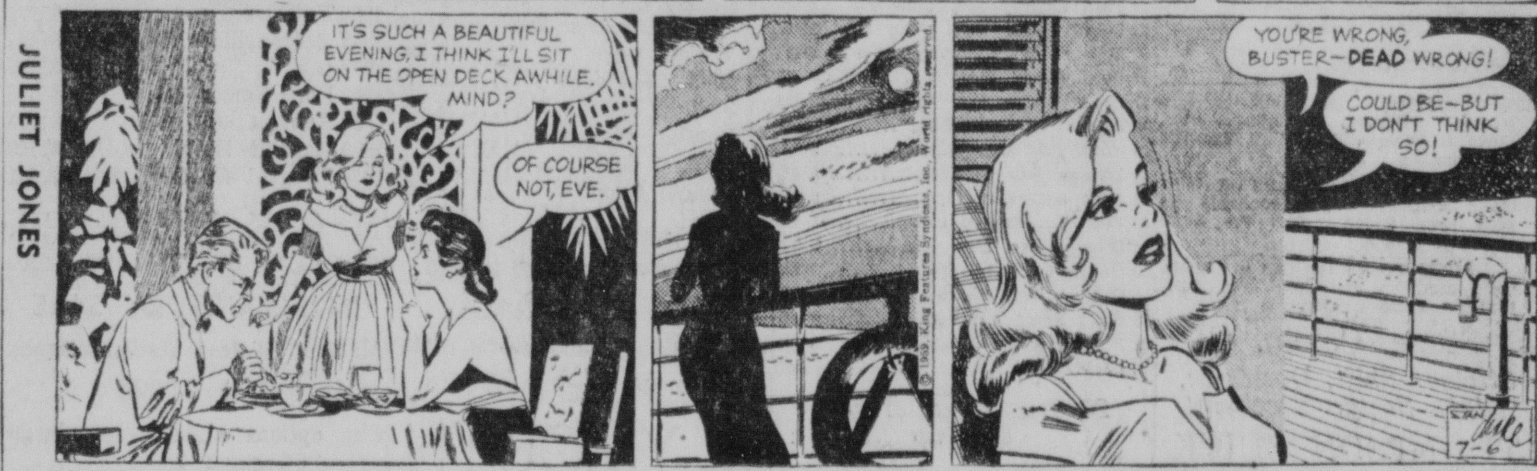

Q. 7—As South, the dealer, you hold:
♠ A 4 ♥ A K 3 ♦ A K J 9 6 2 ♣ K 5
What is your opening bid?
A.—Two no trump. Though this hand is a shade unbalanced, no other call is satisfactory. The holding falls just short of the requirement for a demand bid in a minor suit. Besides, partner's expected two no trump response might result in a lead through your unguarded king should he become declarer at three no trump.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ Q J 7 6 5 4 ♥ A K J 6 2 ♦ J 7
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 NT 2 ♠
3 ♠ 4 ♠ 5 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Five spades. This is just to take out a little insurance. At worst you should go down just one and the enemy may make their bid. The one no trump bidder has at most one spade honor and if it is the king, two diamond tricks should be the extent of your losses. (Copyright 1959, The Chicago Tribune)

Hartman Appointed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore City Solicitor Harrison L. Winter announced Saturday the appointment of Ambrose T. Hartman, former assistant attorney general, as deputy city solicitor.

Hartman, 34, was an assistant attorney general for Maryland from 1951 to 1953. Since that time he has been an associate of the Baltimore law firm of Semmes, Bowen and Semmes.

ROK Atomic Reactor

INCHON, Korea (AP)—The first parts of a $730,000 atomic reactor arrived here from the United States Sunday.

The 100-kilowatt open pool type reactor will be installed at the national nuclear research laboratories in a village on the eastern outskirts of Seoul which is to become South Korea's atomic center.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ 9 2 10 8 3 ♦ K J 7 4 ♣ A J 6 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Partner's jump rebid is forcing to game and the suggested bid is three no trump inasmuch as you have the minor suits doubly stopped. A raise to four hearts is not recommended, for though partner made a jump shift it might have been on a four card heart suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ 7 ♥ K Q 10 9 7 4 ♦ J 10 9 6 ♣ A 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. With this strong six card suit and a reasonably good holding in diamonds, you should take the chance yourself. Partner might have to pass three hearts on a hand that could produce a game.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♥ 9 8 7 4 3 ♦ A 7 6 5 4 10
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠
Double Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. This hand is almost worthless defensively but has fine offensive potentialities. Partner's bidding indicates that he has very little support for hearts, but this is practically an independent suit which a singleton honor will solidify.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ J ♥ A Q 6 5 ♦ A J 10 ♣ A K J 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Five diamonds. Slam is a strong possibility and this looks like the best exploratory maneuver. If partner has a fitting card in diamonds or a reasonably good spade suit, he will surely react favorably to your slam suggestion.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ A ♥ A 8 5 ♦ Q 9 6 4 3 ♣ A Q 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Four clubs. Your hand re-evaluates to 19 points in support of clubs which with the minimum of 10 your partner has promised by virtue of his two-over-one response spells a sure game. But there could be even bigger things brewing, and the immediate jump is the best way to indicate your ambitions.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ 7 ♥ A Q 6 4 ♦ K J 8 6 5 ♣ A 9 6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 NT Pass 3 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. The heart suit should be shown at this point even though it is not probable that partner will show up with four of that suit. It will facilitate partner's reading of your distribution should you find it expedient to show club support on a subsequent round.

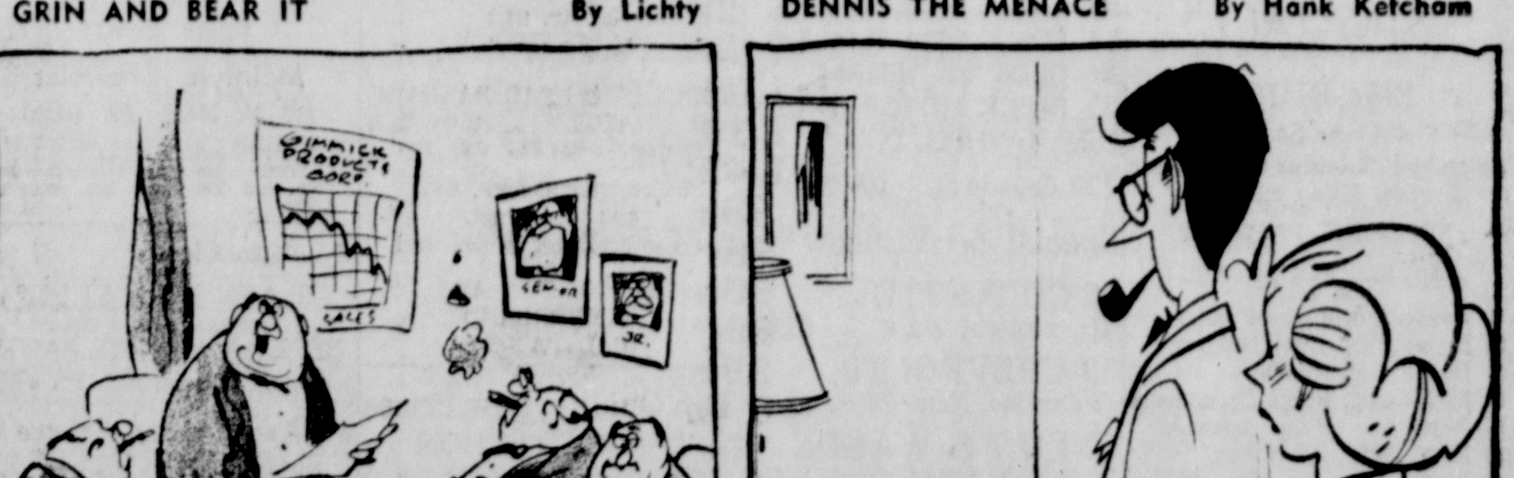

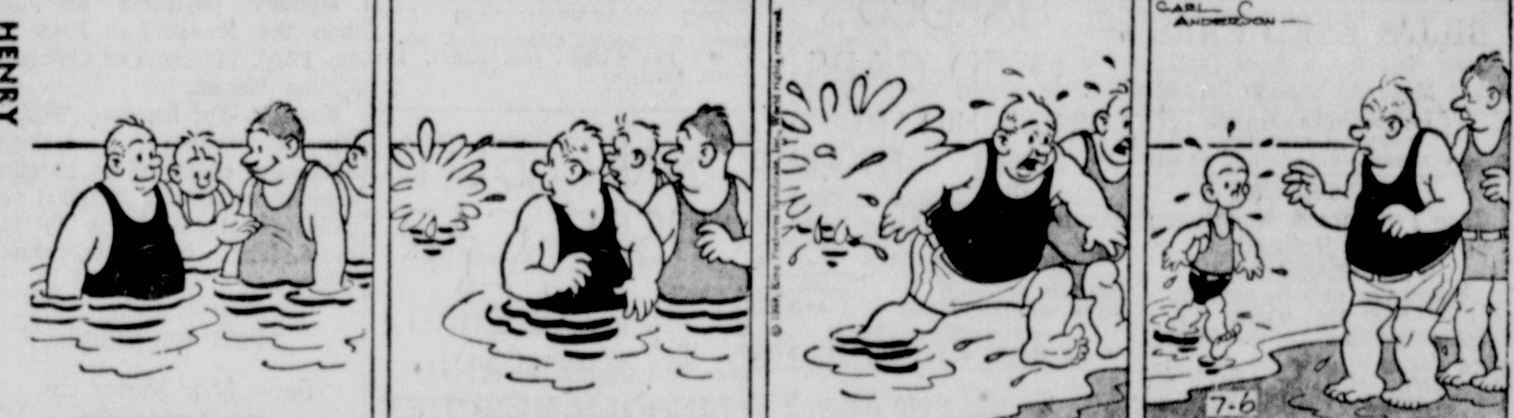

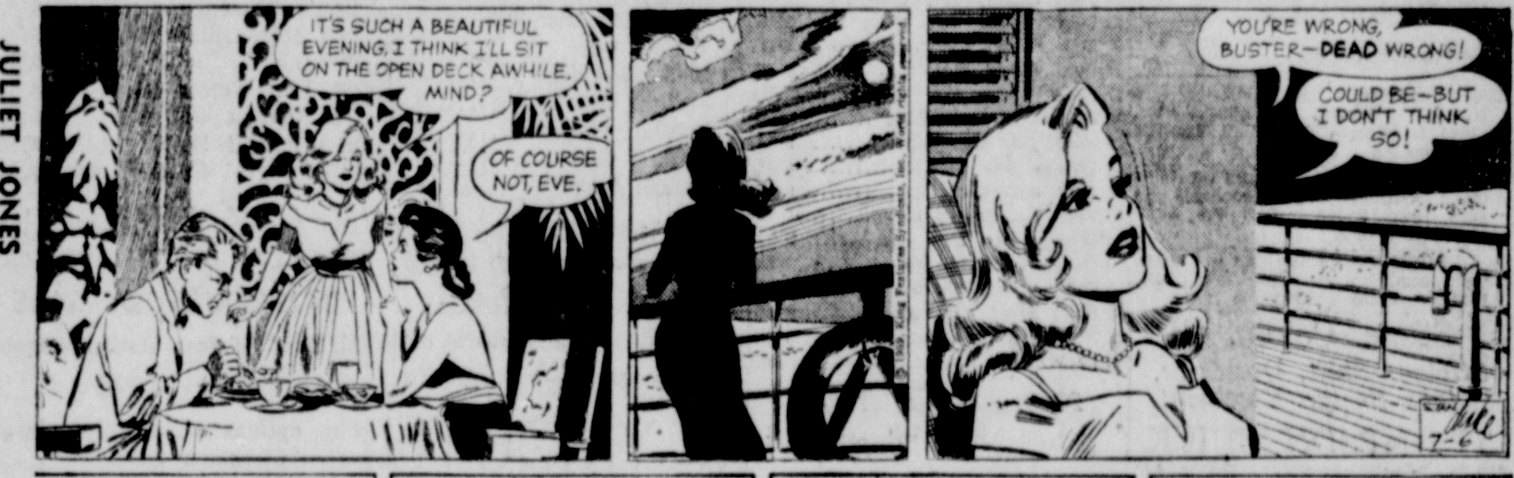

Q. 7—As South, the dealer, you hold:
♠ A 4 ♥ A K 3 ♦ A K J 9 6 2 ♣ K 5
What is your opening bid?
A.—Two no trump. Though this hand is satisfactory. The holding falls just short of the requirement for a demand bid in a minor suit. Besides, partner's expected two no trump response might result in a lead through your unguarded king should he become declarer at three no trump.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ Q J 7 6 5 4 ♥ A K J 6 2 ♦ J 7
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 NT 2 ♠
3 ♠ 4 ♠ 5 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Five spades. This is just to take out a little insurance. At worst you should go down just one and the enemy may make their bid. The one no trump bidder has at most one spade honor and if it is the king, two diamond tricks should be the extent of your losses.

St. Luke's Cornerstone Is Laid Here

Completion Set Late This Year

A Christian congregation must be a heavenly colony in the community, conveying peace, understanding and salvation to the world's weary and heavy-laden. This purpose was emphasized yesterday morning by Rev. John W. Whetstone, associate director of the Department of Church Architecture of the United Lutheran Church in America, in a sermon marking the laying of the cornerstone of the church and educational unit which St. Luke's Lutheran Church is building in the 1600 block of Frederick Street.

He said the important thing was not the cornerstone which was laid, but the cornerstone of Christ, which each individual must put into his heart.

The ceremony, held in the presence of some 400 members of the congregation, was opened by Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of the church.

The actual dedication and placement of the cornerstone was in charge of Rev. Dr. J. Frank Fife, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland.

St. Luke's, which has the largest communicating membership of the Lutheran Church in Western Maryland, embarked on this year on the $450,000 building program.

The church is being built by the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company and is slated for completion this year.

Among the articles placed in the cornerstone was a history of the congregation and membership lists, prepared by a member, Robert L. Smith, from records dating back to the 1860s.

Contemporary Design Copies of the original constitution and the one adopted in 1956, copies of local newspapers, containing articles on the structure, a hymnal and current coins were included.

Lists of the Church Council, building fund committee and the building committee were also placed in the cornerstone.

Merl C. Boyer is superintendent, and Charles M. Brooks the foreman for the construction firm which is building the sanctuary church and educational unit.

The new church will be of contemporary Gothic architecture and will have a seating capacity of 500.

A striking feature will be the 90-foot pylon, topped by a cross, which rises above the cornerstone.

K. Of C. Will Install Tuesday

The Knights of Columbus, Cumberland Council 586, will install officers at the regular meeting Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. at the council home, North Mechanic Street.

Installing officer will be District Deputy Carl Firlie.

Taking office will be Lawrence E. Geiger, grand knight; John J. Rorick, deputy grand knight; Edward T. Lyons, chancellor; Paul Scully, warden; Frank L. Werner, recording secretary; John J. Wolphoe, treasurer; Thomas E. Dunn Sr., inside guard; John J. Loibel Jr., outside guard; John F. O'Rourke, judge advocate; Joseph Soethe, John D. Lindner, Thomas E. Carroll, trustees; and J. Arthur McDade, Sylvester A. Shircliffe, Albert J. Lawler, Thomas N. Simons, and Patrick J. Hopkins, members of the house committee.

Frostburg Has No Fatalities

BALTIMORE (AP) — If you want to take a stroll downtown don't come to Baltimore to do it. The Automobile Club of Maryland says Baltimore had the highest pedestrian fatality rate of any large city in the country during 1958.

It was the second year in a row that Baltimore led the list. The rate for both years was 7.1 pedestrian deaths for every 100,000 residents.

Detroit had the nation's best record — 4.3 deaths per 100,000.

Four Maryland communities won honorable mention or special citations — Annapolis, Havre de Grace, Sparrows Point and Easton.

There were eight Maryland towns with no pedestrian deaths last year for two or more consecutive years. Listed with the number of years, they included:

Westminster, 9; Greenbelt, 9; Hyattsville, 7; Elkton, 5; Rockville, 5; Frostburg, 3; Frederick, 2, and College Park, 1.

The club said municipalities with good records will be presented awards at a July 9 luncheon at a Baltimore hotel.

Hebb Returns Home

Victor M. Hebb, 430 South Street, minority member of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, returned home yesterday from Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient for the past month.

Cornerstone Laid For New Church

Rev. Dr. J. Frank Fife, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland, places mortar on the cornerstone of the new church and educational unit which St. Luke's Lutheran Church is building in the 1600 block of Frederick Street. Witnessing the ceremony, held yesterday morning in the presence of some 400 members of the congregation, are Rev. William R.

Snyder, left, pastor of the church, and Rev. John W. Whetstone, associate director of the Department of Church Architecture of the United Lutheran Church in America, who delivered the sermon for the cornerstone laying ceremony. The $450,000 building program is scheduled for completion by the end of the year.

Ray Whitehair Accepts Post At Hospital

Raymond F. Whitehair, 701 Hill Top Drive, who operated the Association Printing and Advertising Company here for a number of years, has accepted an appointment as administrative assistant in charge of the outpatient department of the George Washington University Hospital, Washington, D. C.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Whitehair left here with Company G, 115th Infantry, 29th Division, Maryland National Guard in February 1941. He served through all non-commissioned grades and was later sent to Carlisle Barracks, Pa., where he received his training in hospital administration.

Upon graduation from school there, he was commissioned a second lieutenant with the Medical Administrative Corps, U. S. Army, and was assigned to Tulane University for the activation of the 24th General Hospital, an affiliated unit of that university. He served as medical registrar of this hospital through the African and Italian campaigns.

Mr. Whitehair is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, served two terms as commander of Henry Hart Post 1411, and has held several state department offices in the VFW. He is also a member of Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, and the Retired Officers Association.

He served as vice president and board member of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association and as a director of the Allegany County Cancer Society. Mr. Whitehair was active in Red Cross work here, and until recently he served on the first aid instructors board. He has been active in the Allegany County Civil Defense program and was appointed chief administrative officer for the CD medical services.

It was through his efforts that training programs for civilian personnel were formulated and disaster training courses for the nursing profession were brought into active programs in this county.

In June 1958 he graduated from the Lewis Hotel Training School where he received further training in administrative work for hospitals, hotels and other institutions. He completes a year of internship at George Washington University this month.

Mr. Whitehair returns here each weekend to be with his wife and son. Mrs. Whitehair is secretary to J. B. White, plant manager of Works 7, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and is active in the local chapter of the National Secretaries Association, having recently been re-elected president for a third term.

Their son, Raymond, will be a senior at LaSalle High School this fall.

Club Enters State Fair

The Breakneck 4-H Boys Club at Flintstone will enter an educational booth based on a forestry theme in the Maryland State Fair at Timonium this summer. Martin Gordon, local leader, said the members have been working for the project for some time.

"Protect Your Wood Lot" is the slogan of the display, which will include a cross-section of a log. Small streamers from the cross-section will lead to such wood products as paper, lumber, turpentine and utility poles.

The exhibit will have a backdrop of natural pine, according to Mr. Gordon, who said a similar display is planned at the Cumberland Fair next month. The club's president is James Wilson.

Good Books Available For Vacationing Pupils

A number of books suitable for summer reading by youngsters now on vacation from school have been suggested by Miss Elizabeth Cain, staff member of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Miss Cain pointed out that Allabout Books, published by Random House, are among the most widely read in the children's series. Each book has been written by an authority in his field in simple language but with scientific accuracy.

Among the many Allabout Books available are "Allabout Electricity," "Allabout the Human Body," and "Allabout Satellites and Space Ships."

The junior fiction section has many interesting books to offer young readers.

She said "Meet South Africa" by John Gunther with Sam and Beryl Epstein is a highly readable book and is one of the most interesting of the Meet the World Books.

The young collector will find an historical and instructive introduction to coins and currency in "Coinometry," written by Robert V. Masters and Fred Reinfield.

"Men and Women Behind the Atom," which was written especially for teen-agers by Sarah R. Riedman, presents the histories of a number of men and women who have been responsible for the release of atomic energy.

Some 150 ways for boys to earn money are explained in "Dollars For You" by Adrian A. Paradis. This practical and helpful book will be valuable to any boy who wishes to earn money and gain necessary experience at the same time.

For the teen-age girl who has already mastered the skills of basic sewing, the library recommends "Sew Far, Sew Good," by Peggy Hoffman. The Junior Literary Guild selection is written in the modern manner with an advanced guide to creative styling, illustrated with photographs and diagrams.

Runaway Arrested

A young runaway boy was picked up by City Police early yesterday and lodged in the detention quarters of the Allegany County Infirmary until he was picked up by a deputy sheriff from Washington County.

Also included in the booklet is the operation of the blood supply system, various causes of strokes and medical terms used in connection with them.

"Apoplexy" or another name for stroke is a common disorder arising when the blood supply to the brain tissue is interfered with. The booklet describes the effects on the body when this occurs.

Rehabilitation for stroke patients also is discussed in the booklet, with the possibility of recurrence of strokes.

Mrs. Lewis said persons interested in obtaining the free booklet may visit the local office or send in their requests by mail.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Munson, 163 East Mechanic Street, Frostburg, a son Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman W. Rawlings, Hyndman, Pa., a daughter Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Athey, 212 Elder Street, a son Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Deneen, Hyndman, Pa., a daughter Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Murphy, RD 2, Keyser, W. Va., a daughter Saturday.

No Serious Mishaps Mar County '4th'

Frostburg Police Chief Is Injured

Allegany County escaped without a fatal accident over the two-day Fourth of July holiday, although several minor traffic mishaps were reported.

The holiday was celebrated in quiet fashion throughout the area with city police checking the illegal use of firecrackers, although no arrests were made. Traffic was light Saturday but it picked up considerably yesterday, State Police said.

Police Chief Donald Griffith of Frostburg was slightly hurt when a car in which he was riding crashed into an embankment on State Route 36 near Shaft early Saturday morning.

The car was operated by Donald Timothy Conner, 127 Spring Street, Frostburg, who was unhurt. Chief Griffith sustained scalp lacerations, according to State Police. The men reportedly were returning from Lonaconing where they attended a program by the Goodwill Volunteer Fire Company.

In another holiday accident, four persons escaped injury when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Red Hill and crashed into the roadside restaurant of Stanley Donahoe, just off U.S. Route 40 seven miles west of Cumberland.

The crash occurred about 2 a.m. Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Donahoe were awakened by the crash. They reported that 24 small windows in the front of the establishment were broken by the impact.

State Police last night continued their investigation of the accident.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania authorities reported one of five persons injured Friday morning in an automobile - tractor - trailer crash on the turnpike was still on the "critical" list in Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

He is Bernard Richardson, 17, of Brooklyn, who suffered a possible fracture of the skull and head, and body lacerations.

Leonard Smith, 16, Brooklyn, who also suffered a possible fracture of the skull, is reported in "fair" condition. Listed as "good" are Curtis Hale, 29, Brooklyn, driver of the car, and Emma D. Bond, 30, Long Island.

Deborah A. Connolly, 5, of Brooklyn, was released Saturday from the hospital.

The car hit the rear of the tractor-trailer as it was ascending Allegheny Mountain 25 miles west of Bedford. Richard L. Brown, Red Lion, Pa., driver of the rig, was unhurt.

9 Youths Arrested For Street Brawl

Nine youths, ranging from 18 to 25 years of age, were arrested by City Police Saturday night for fighting on Greene Street.

City officers Harold Gibson and William Norris arrested the group when the brawl broke out near the Greene Street Esso Service center. All the youths posted $20 bond on disturbance of the peace charges for a hearing in Police Court this morning.

The were identified by police as Ray Taylor, 331 Frederick Street; Calvin Jones, 358 Davidson Street; Steven Green, 622 Bedford Street; Charles Washington, Benjamin Baneker Apartments; Donald Pope, 308 Central Avenue; Mervin Pope, 225 Independence Street; Michael Murphy, Lima, Ohio; Robert O'Neal, U.S. Marine Corps; and Jerry Cutchall, Cresaptown.

COMPLETES BASIC — Raymond F. Reinhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Reinhardt of LaVale, has been home on leave from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, where he completed 11 weeks of basic training. A/3C Reinhardt now reports to Goodfellow Air Base, San Angelo, Texas, where he will attend technical training school for interceptor analysis for 19 weeks of specialist training.

Man Remains Unconscious After Fall

Robert W. Riley, 26-year-old construction worker who was injured when he fell 63 feet from a scaffold at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company Friday, was taken to University Hospital in Baltimore last night.

Mr. Riley has remained unconscious at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser for more than two days since the accident and was still in a coma when he was taken to Baltimore, hospital attendants said. He showed some brief recognition of visitors yesterday, however.

Five other men with Riley on the scaffold at the time of the accident escaped injury but were given a checkup at the hospital. One of these, William J. Pifalo, 31, of RD 2, Frostburg, almost plunged to the ground with Riley when the scaffolding slipped, but his foot caught in the ropes and he was pulled to safety by the others.

The accident occurred about 2:30 p.m. Friday as the men were cleaning block that had been laid on a building being constructed by contractors during expansion work at the paper mill.

The scaffold was being lowered when one of the lowering devices apparently failed to function properly, jerking the scaffolding and causing Riley to lose his balance. He plunged 63 feet down an elevator shaft to the ground.

The other men were Pifalo, Robert H. Hoffman, 53, of Ellerslie, Raymond Kennell, RD 1, Hyndman, Stanton H. Anderson, 53, of RD 5, Cumberland, and Paul Poorbaugh, 39, of Corriganville.

Answer Minor Alarms

City firmen answered four minor alarms late Saturday night and yesterday. West Side Company went to 767 Greene Street at 12:23 p. m. yesterday to extinguish a brush fire. South End put out a grass fire behind the macaroni factory on Wineoak Street about 1:40 p. m. yesterday and East Side found a burning mattress on Front Street when they answered a 7:13 a. m. alarm yesterday. Central firemen washed down spilled gasoline in front of the Maryland Theatre Saturday night.

Sunshine Camp For Girls To Open Today

26 To Attend Session Here

Twenty-six girls are scheduled to go to Sunshine Camp on MacDonald Terrace today to be guests of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club for two weeks.

The girls were selected by the staff of the Associated Charities and last week were given physical examinations by Dr. W. Royce Hodges and Dr. A. G. Thurman Twigg.

Two public health nurses Mrs. Lois Jackson and Mrs. Helen Ruby, assisted in the program.

The girls will be taken to Sunshine Camp by members of the Kiwanis Club, which will hold a dinner at the camp during the two-week outing.

Heading the staff of the camp is George Conway, 815 MacDonald Terrace.

Twenty-five boys selected by the CUF agency last week completed a two-week tour at the Kiwanis camp.

They were examined by Dr. A. J. Mirkin and Dr. Twigg with the assistance of Miss Grace Hardman and Mrs. Marie Fromhart, public health nurses.

Swimming, wiener roasts, storytelling hours and campfire programs are scheduled for both boys and girls at the camp.

Evergreen Pests Can Be Controlled

County Agent Joseph M. Steger has received information from Ted Bissell, extension entomologist for the University of Maryland, concerning control of two serious pests of evergreens.

These pests are the bagworm and the spruce spider mite. They attack cedar, juniper, arbor vitae and spruce. They become nuisances each July.

The bagworm is a curious caterpillar that builds a house of silk and bits of dead foliage, and carries it around as it feeds. The full sized bag, seen in August, is two inches long, but around the first of July it measures less than one inch long. As the bagworm grows, it becomes very greedy and an infested plant seems to be stripped overnight.

Spider mites are very small creatures no larger than grains of pepper and salt. They feed only on the surface of the foliage. But their numbers are overwhelming, and they soon take all the green color from a spruce bough. A fine protective web is spun over the needles by the busy mites.

Lead arsenate with a sticker is a tried and true remedy for bagworms. Use two-thirds of a cup of lead arsenate and a tablespoonful of flour to three gallons of water when bagworms are small. Later in the season, the dosage must be increased by a third.

Malathion can be used for both bagworms and spider mite. To three gallons of water use two-thirds cup of 25 per cent wettable powder, or two tablespoonfuls of 55 per cent liquid malathion.

A thorough forceful application of spray is necessary for mite control, because all parts of the foliage and bark may be infested. A second application of malathion should be made three or four days later, to poison the mites which are likely to hatch from eggs laid earlier.

North End Talent Show Tomorrow

North End Playground will hold a talent show at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, Michael Wilson, director, announced.

Winner of the contest will represent North End in the city-wide talent competition Thursday at Constitution Park.

A handicraft class will be held at 10 a.m. today at the playlot.

A pet show will be held at North End Thursday at 7 p.m. Pets must be on leashes or in cages.

After the pet show there will be a dance for teen-agers.

Raymond F. Whitehair, 701 Hill Top Drive, who operated the Association Printing and Advertising Company here for a number of years, has accepted an appointment as administrative assistant in charge of the outpatient department of the George Washington University Hospital, Washington, D. C.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Whitehair left here with Company G, 115th Infantry, 29th Division, Maryland National Guard in February 1941. He served through all non-commissioned grades and was later sent to Carlisle Barracks, Pa., where he received his training in hospital administration.

Upon graduation from school there, he was commissioned a second lieutenant with the Medical Administrative Corps, U. S. Army, and was assigned to Tulane University for the activation of the 24th General Hospital, an affiliated unit of that university. He served as medical registrar of this hospital through the African and Italian campaigns.

Mr. Whitehair is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, served two terms as commander of Henry Hart Post 1411, and has held several state department offices in the VFW. He is also a member of Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, and the Retired Officers Association.

He served as vice president and board member of the Allegheny-Garrett County Heart Association and as a director of the Allegheny County Cancer Society.

Mr. Whitehair was active in Red Cross work here, and until recently he served on the first aid instructors board. He has been active in the Allegheny County Civil Defense program and was appointed chief administrative officer for the CD medical services.

It was through his efforts that training programs for civilian personnel were formulated and disaster training courses for the nursing profession were brought into active programs in this county.

In June 1958 he graduated from the Lewis Hotel Training School where he received further training in administrative work for hospitals, hotels and other institutions. He completes a year of internship at George Washington University this month.

Mr. Whitehair returns here each weekend to be with his wife and son. Mrs. Whitehair is secretary to J. B. White, plant manager of Works 7, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and is active in the local chapter of the National Secretaries Association, having recently been re-elected president for a third term.

Their son, Raymond, will be a senior at LaSalle High School this fall.

Club Enters State Fair

The Breakneck 4-H Boys Club at Flintstone will enter an educational booth based on a forestry theme in the Maryland State Fair at Timonium this summer.

Martin Gordon, local leader, said the members have been working for the project for some time.

"Protect Your Wood Lot" is the slogan of the display, which will include a cross-section of a log. Small streamers from the cross-section will lead to such wood products as paper, lumber, turpentine and utility poles.

The exhibit will have a backdrop of natural pine, according to Mr. Gordon, who said a similar display is planned at the Cumberland Fair next month. The club's president is James Wilson.

Good Books Available For Vacationing Pupils

A number of books suitable for summer reading by youngsters now on vacation from school have been suggested by Miss Elizabeth Cain, staff member of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Miss Cain pointed out that Allabout Books, published by Random House, are among the most widely read in the children's series. Each book has been written by an authority in his field in simple language but with scientific accuracy.

Among the many Allabout Books available are "Allabout Electricity," "Allabout the Human Body," and "Allabout Satellites and Space Ships."

The junior fiction section has many interesting books to offer young readers.

She said "Meet South Africa" by John Gunther with Sam and Beryl Epstein is a highly readable book and is one of the most interesting of the Meet the World Books.

The young collector will find an historical and instructive introduction to coins and currency in "Coinometry," written by Robert V. Masters and Fred Reinfield.

"Men and Women Behind the Atom," which was written especially for teen-agers by Sarah R. Riedman, presents the histories of a number of men and women who have been responsible for the release of atomic energy.

Some 150 ways for boys to earn money are explained in "Dollars For You" by Adrian A. Paradis. This practical and helpful book will be valuable to any boy who wishes to earn money and gain necessary experience at the same time.

For the teen-age girl who has already mastered the skills of basic sewing, the library recommends "Sew Far, Sew Good," by Peggy Hoffman. The Junior Literary Guild selection is written in the modern manner with an advanced guide to creative styling, illustrated with photographs and diagrams.

The Allegheny-Garrett County Heart Association has a free booklet available to residents of this area entitled "Strokes: A Guide for the Family."

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary, said the booklets are available at the association's office on the second floor of the County Building, 111 Union Street.

The booklet includes information on views by the medical profession on the treatment of strokes and just what is known about them.

Also included in the booklet is the operation of the blood supply system, various causes of strokes and medical terms used in connection with them.

"Apoplexy" or another name for stroke is a common disorder arising when the blood supply to the brain tissue is interfered with. The booklet describes the effects on the body when this occurs.

Rehabilitation for stroke patients also is discussed in the booklet, with the possibility of recurrence of strokes.

Mrs. Lewis said persons interested in obtaining the free booklet may visit the local office or send in their requests by mail.

Police Find Man Dead In Apartment

A local man, about 55, was found dead in his bed in an apartment on Bedford Street yesterday by City Police, who investigated a report that the man had not been seen for about two days.

Claude Stansbury Keller, who formerly operated a tavern on Bedford Street, died of natural causes sometime late Friday or early Saturday, according to the deputy county medical examiner's office.

Officer Harold Gibson had to enter the second-floor apartment at 34 Bedford Street through an open window when police found the door locked.

The officer used a ladder borrowed from the Fire Department, removed a screen and went into the building. He said a small bulldog in the apartment barked and jumped at him. The officer used the screen to fend it off, finally locking the animal in another room.

Officer Gibson found Mr. Keller lying across his bed, apparently the victim of a heart attack. He had not been seen since Friday evening when he parked his car at a nearby parking lot.

Mr. Keller is a son of the late George W. Keller, who also was a tavern operator for 20 years before his death several years ago, and Mrs. Anna L. (Cope) Keller.

The body was taken to the Silcox Funeral Home.

Services will be held at the funeral home tomorrow at 10 a. m. by Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

No Serious Mishaps Mar County '4th'

Frostburg Police Chief Is Injured

Allegany County escaped without a fatal accident over the two-day Fourth of July holiday, although several minor traffic mishaps were reported.

The holiday was celebrated in quiet fashion throughout the area with city police checking the illegal use of firecrackers, although no arrests were made. Traffic was light Saturday but it picked up considerably yesterday, State Police said.

Police Chief Donald Griffith of Frostburg was slightly hurt when a car in which he was riding crashed into an embankment on State Route 36 near Shaft early Saturday morning.

The car was operated by Donald Timothy Conner, 127 Spring Street, Frostburg, who was unhurt. Chief Griffith sustained scalp lacerations, according to State Police. The men reportedly were returning from Lonaconing where they attended a program by the Goodwill Volunteer Fire Company.

In another holiday accident, four persons escaped injury when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Red Hill and crashed into the roadside restaurant of Stanley Donahoe, just off U.S. Route 40, seven miles west of Cumberland.

The crash occurred about 2 a. m. Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Donahoe were awakened by the crash. They reported that 24 small windows in the front of the establishment were broken by the impact.

State Police last night continued their investigation of the accident.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania authorities reported one of five persons injured Friday morning in an automobile - tractor - trailer crash on the turnpike was still on the "critical" list in Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

He is Bernard Richardson, 17, of Brooklyn, who suffered a possible fracture of the skull and head, and body lacerations.

Leonard Smith, 16, Brooklyn, who also suffered a possible fracture of the skull, is reported in "fair" condition. Listed as "good" are Curtis Hale, 29, Brooklyn, driver of the car, and Emma D. Bond, 30, Long Island. Deborah A. Connolly, 5, of Brooklyn, was released Saturday from the hospital.

The car hit the rear of the tractor-trailer as it was ascending Allegheny Mountain 25 miles west of Bedford. Richard L. Brown, Red Lion, Pa., driver of the rig, was unhurt.

9 Youths Arrested For Street Brawl

Nine youths, ranging from 18 to 25 years of age, were arrested by City Police Saturday night for fighting on Greene Street.

City officers Harold Gibson and William Norris arrested the group when the brawl broke out near the Greene Street Easo Service Center. All the youths posted $20 bond on disturbance of the peace charges for a hearing in Police Court this morning.

The were identified by police as Ray Taylor, 331 Frederick Street; Calvin Jones, 358 Davidson Street; Steven Green, 622 Bedford Street; Charles Washington, Benjamin Banneker Apartments; Donald Pope, 308 Central Avenue; Mervin Pope, 225 Independence Street; Michael Murphy, Lima, Ohio; Robert O'Neal, U.S. Marine Corps; and Jerry Cutchall, Cresaptown.

COMPLETES BASIC — Raymond F. Reinhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Reinhart of LaVale, has been home on leave from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, where he completed 11 weeks of basic training. A/3C Reinhart now reports to Goodfellow Air Base, San Angelo, Texas, where he will attend technical training school for interceptor analysis for 19 weeks of specialist training.

Man Remains Unconscious After Fall

Robert W. Riley, 26-year-old construction worker who was injured when he fell 63 feet from a scaffold at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company Friday, was taken to University Hospital in Baltimore last night.

Mr. Riley has remained unconscious at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser for more than two days since the accident and was still in a coma when he was taken to Baltimore, hospital attendants said. He showed some brief recognition of visitors yesterday, however.

Five other men with Riley on the scaffold at the time of the accident escaped injury but were given a checkup at the hospital. One of these, William J. Pifalo, 31, of RD 2, Frostburg, almost plunged to the ground with Riley when the scaffolding slipped, but his foot caught in the ropes and he was pulled to safety by the others.

The accident occurred about 2:30 p. m. Friday as the men were cleaning block that had been laid on a building being constructed by contractors during expansion work at the paper mill.

The scaffold was being lowered when one of the lowering devices apparently failed to function properly, jerking the scaffolding and causing Riley to lose his balance. He plunged 63 feet down an elevator shaft to the ground.

The other men were Pifalo, Robert H. Hoffman, 53, of Ellerslie, Raymond Kennell, RD 1, Hyndman, Stanton H. Anderson, 53, of RD 5, Cumberland, and Paul Poorbaugh, 39, of Corriganville.

Answer Minor Alarms

City firmen answered four minor alarms late Saturday night and yesterday. West Side Company went to 767 Greene Street at 12:23 p. m. yesterday to extinguish a brush fire. South End p. u. out a grass fire behind the macaroni factory on Wineow Street about 1:40 p. m. yesterday and East Side found a burning mattress on Front Street when they answered a 7:13 a. m. alarm yesterday. Central firemen washed down spilled gasoline in front of the Maryland Theatre Saturday night.

Sunshine Camp For Girls To Open Today

26 To Attend Session Here

Twenty-six girls are scheduled to go to Sunshine Camp on MacDonald Terrace today to be guests of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club for two weeks.

The girls were selected by the staff of the Associated Charities and last week were given physical examinations by Dr. W. Royce Hodges and Dr. A. G. Thurman Twigg.

Two public health nurses Mrs. Lois Jackson and Mrs. Helen Ruby, assisted in the program.

The girls will be taken to Sunshine Camp by members of the Kiwanis Club, which will hold a dinner at the camp during the two-week outing.

Heading the staff of the camp is George Conway, 815 MacDonald Terrace.

Twenty-five boys selected by the CUF agency last week completed a two-week tour at the Kiwanis camp.

They were examined by Dr. A. J. Minkin and Dr. Twigg with the assistance of Miss Grace Hardman and Mrs. Marie Fromhart, public health nurses.

Swimming, wiener roasts, storytelling hours and campfire programs are scheduled for both boys and girls at the camp.

Evergreen Pests Can Be Controlled

County Agent Joseph M. Steger has received information from Ted Bissell, extension entomologist, the University of Maryland, concerning control of two serious pests of evergreens.

These pests are the bagworm and the spruce spider mite. They attack cedar, juniper, arbor vitae and spruce. They become nuisances each July.

The bagworm is a curious caterpillar that builds a house of silk and bits of dead foliage, and carries it around as it feeds. The full sized bag, seen in August, is two inches long, but around the first of July it measures less than one inch long. As the bagworm grows, it becomes very greedy and an infested plant seems to be stripped overnight.

Spider mites are very small creatures no larger than grains of pepper and salt. They feed only on the surface of the foliage. But their numbers are overwhelming, and they soon take all the green color from a spruce bough. A fine protective web is spun over the needles by the busy mites.

Lead arsenate with a sticker is a tried and true remedy for bagworms. Use two-thirds of a cup of lead arsenate and a tablespoonful of flour to three gallons of water when bagworms are small. Later in the season, the dosage must be increased by a third.

Malathion can be used for both bagworms and spider mite. To three gallons of water use two-thirds cup of 25 percent wettable powder, or two tablespoonfuls of 55 percent liquid malathion.

A thorough forceful application of spray is necessary for mite control, because all parts of the foliage and bark may be infested. A second application of malathion should be made three or four days later, to poison the mites which are likely to hatch from eggs laid earlier.
